Rumler Is Farm Bureau's Ag Service Honoree

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB) presented its Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award to Robert Rumler of Chambersburg. Rumler is the former chief administrator of the National Holstein Association. During his nearly 30 years as its CEO, the Holstein association gained recognition as a major force in the improvement of the dairy breed worldwide.

PFB also honored Lehigh County Farm Bureau with the All Star Award for the third consecutive year. This award is PFB's most prestigious program award, going to the county with the highest score in the recognition and awards program.

The awards were presented during PFB's 49th Annual Meeting, this week at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center. Several hundred farmers, including 172 voting delegates, met to elect leaders and set policies for the organization for the coming year. PFB is a voluntary, statewide organization which represents more than 27,300 farm and rural families.

Rumler received the award during PFB's member recognition banquet, Tuesday evening.

Rumler, a Franklin County native, served as chief executive officer of the Holstein-Friesian Association, now known as Holstein U.S.A., from 1953 to 1982 Upon retirement, he was named chairman emeritus of the organization, the first such designation in its history.

As chief administrator of the organization headquartered in Brattleboro, Vt., Rumler was eminently successful in envisioning future developments affecting the dairy industry, and then designing, implementing and carrying forward programs and services to serve the best interests of Holstein dairymen across the nation.

During his leadership of the national association, the Holstein breed increased in number from 45 percent of the dairy herd in the U.S. to more than 85 percent, and the number of registered Holsteins grew to make up 90 percent of all registered dairy cows. Holsteins became the dominant dairy breed in the world and U.S. Holsteins became the most sought-after genetic material worldwide.

Under his direction, the Holstein Association became in the mid-1950s an early cooperator in USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service Program to develop agricultural markets overseas. In response to the rising export market for Holstein genetic material, Rumler led the organization to establish a subsidiary, Holstein Friesian

'Winter Woes' Don't Distract Kile Turkey Farm

ANDY ANDREWS

NEW PROVIDENCE (Lancaster Co.) — Oh, those winter woes.

For the Jeff and Diane Kile family, the famous phrase from the Dickens' novel, the best of times and the worst, can be rolled into the years 1994-1996.

When the Kiles decided they wanted to start a turkey growout operation in New Providence, work they had planned for years had to be put on hold. In the winter of 1994, the area experienced the coldest temperatures ever, combined with about a foot of ice and snow.

Work in the spring was delayed.

Then came the incredible snowstorm of early January 1996, literally shutting down the state, canceling Farm Show events, and keeping everyone at home.

But work didn't stop for the Kile family.

On the 600-foot long by 50-foot wide brooder and finishing barns, snow had piled high — dangerously high — that January Sunday.

"The snow weight was too much per square foot," said Diane.

Jeff, who works full-time for Roy Ressler and Son, Inc., Mountville, asked for lots of fuel and some portable heaters. The gas heaters were installed in the attics. The Kiles tried to melt as much as they could from the roofs.

"That was a year, I'll tell you," said Jeff, remembering working to clear the snow from the sides.

It stopped snowing Sunday and, by Tuesday, laneways were cleared between the houses.

Ever since, the weather hasn't posed a big challenge, fortunately.

Heinnickel Family Receives Conservation Farmer Of The Year Honors

Bedford Co. Correspondent

CHAMPION (Somerset Co.) — Alquin and Dolores Heinnickel, Greensburg, were honored with the Conservation Farmer of the Year Award Nov. 10 at the 52nd Annual Joint Conference of the State Conservation Commission and the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts, Inc.

Conducted at the Seven Springs Mountain Resort, the event was hosted by the Somerset County Conservation District Nov. 7-10.

Heinnickel's award was sponsored by the Agricultural Coalition of Pennsylvania and PennAg Industries Association.

For four decades the Heinnickel Farm, located along Route 119, has been a model of conservation and management practices, employing contour strip farming, conservation tillage and intensive grazing projects.

"We do a lot of contour farming and fenced out our waterways," Heinnickel reported, adding that he merely is continuing the methods used a generation earlier by his dad, who was serious about stewardship of the land.

Some 200 of the 1,000 acres Heinnickel owns, support two separate intensive grazing systems for the beef cattle aspect of dual beef and grain operation.

Heinnickel said he is satisfied with the design Wes Gordon from the Westmoreland County Conservation District drew for the layout of ditching and placement of drain tile.

With a staff of three full timers on the job there are suffi-

CATTLE: Compared to Tuesday, slaughter steers and heifers sold .50 to mostly 1.00 higher to end the week 1.00-1.50 higher. Buyers seemed desperate for cattle at the opening, but eased up about halfway through the offering. Holstein steers were active and 1.00-2.00 higher. Slaughter cows sold firm to 1.00 higher, with the full advance on the big fleshy cows (less than 85 pct lean). Slaughter bull sales were weak. Supply included 36 percent slaughter steers and 39 percent slaughter cows.

SLAUGHTER STEERS: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1180-1455 lbs 71.00-74.50. Choice 2-3 1100-1485 lbs 68.50-72.50, few high dressing 1-2 up to 74.00. Select and low Choice 2-3 1055-1520 lbs 64.00-69.00. Select 1-3 985-1470 lbs 59.00- 64.50, returning to feed 950-1155 lbs 55.00-67.50.

CATTLE: Compared to last week's closing prices, slaughter steers and heifers closed 1.00-1.50 higher with a progressively higher market that started early MOnday. The fat cattle supply and quality was slightly improved from last week. Prices are strong and 70.00 is no longer the measuring stick between Choice and high Choice or Prime quality, as average cattle routinely break the barrier. Dressed beef sales improved this week, even though turkey is sure to be on everyone's mind for the coming holidays. Western feedlot cattle sold 1.00-2.00 higher from 70.00-71.00 and 111.00-113.00. Local Holstein steers turned active on Thursday and prices ended 1.00-2.00 higher. Slaughter cows also closed 1.00-2.00 higher with the best demand for heavy fleshy cows (less than 85 pct lean). Slaughter bulls finished weak, despite trading higher on Monday. Supply included 37 percent slaughter steers, 5 percent slaughter heifers, 41 percent slaughter cows, 5 percent bulls, and 12 percent feeders.

SLAUGHTER STEERS: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1180-1460 lbs 70.00-74.50, late 71.00-74.50. Choice 2-3 1100-1485 lbs 67.50-72.50, late mostly 68.50-72.50 with high dressing 1-2 up to 74.00. Select and low Choice 2-3 1055-1500 lbs 62.75-69.00; 1500-1610 lbs 58.00-64.50. Select 1-3 985-1470 lbs 58.00-64.50, returning to feed 950-1155 lbs 55.00-67.50.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wed Nov 17, 1999
USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

Daily National Grain Market Summary

After two consecutive days of higher prices, grain and soybean bids turned lower. Export sales have slowed somewhat this week but a slight pickup in farmer selling has been reported in places. A decline in soybean meal demand weighed on bean bids. Wheat 3 to 5 cents lower. Corn 1 to 2 cents lower. Sorghum 3 cents lower. Soybeans 1 to 5 cents lower except Minneapolis 1 cent higher. Winter wheat crop continued to concern traders as dry weather conditions remain in the southern Plains. However, recent upturns were seen as over- done and corrections were made on the Board today. Light export sales are all that have been reported, despite the very low prices. Large world stocks continue to increase competition and pressure bids lower. Corn and soybean bids slipped moderately lower also due to light foreign trading and traces of producer selling, however, many are reluctant to sell before the first of the year.

When Prissels decided to expand their dairy operation, they also wanted to milk available tax advantages.

Randy, Brian, Scott and Dennis Prissel, Prissel Valley Farms, Durand, Wisconsin

Prissels chose a "True Tax" lease. In fact, they leased a milking parlor, free stall barns, silos and other farm equipment. Along with fixed and 100% tax deductible lease payments, the leases protected their equity ratios by providing off balance sheet financing.

They chose Telmark for its knowledge of the dairy industry, service and reputation for financing. They also enjoyed working with their Telmark representative who personally knows the ups and downs of farming.

Brian Prissel and Telmark's Scott Vosters

By financing with a lease, terms were kept to a minimum, allowing for the continued growth of the operation. Telmark's quick response allowed the Prissels to move quickly into their dairy expansion.

Thankful for....

The Pilgrims supposedly started Thanksgiving Day. And that's true. In 1621 a Thanksgiving Day was held. Actually, it was for three days. But the day was not proclaimed nationally until 1789, and then it was not a regular festivity at a specific time until about 100 years later.

George Washington issued the proclamation for the first Thanksgiving Day in 1789 when he entered office. He repeated the call in 1795. But to become a regular national holiday took some time. Some political leaders, including Thomas Jefferson did not like the idea. In addition, many state governors did not support it because they thought it was civil interference with religion.

But Sarah Joseph Hale, the editor of the Boston-based Ladies Magazine, is credited with keeping public attention on the issue until on Oct. 3, 1863, President Lincoln proclaimed the fourth Thursday in November as "henceforth a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the heavens."

Commercialism got in the way when Franklin Roosevelt set aside the third Thursday as Thanksgiving in 1939 and 1940 to give more time to buy Christmas presents and prepare for the Christmas rush. But mostly since the official beginning, the fourth Thursday of November has been the official yearly day of Thanksgiving just as Sarah Hale proposed.

And this week again on Thursday, we remember our many blessings. While farming has many trials, not limited to low commodity prices, and a year of drought, we think the story of one farmer who had taken a licking on 12 cent hogs earlier this year may be the ultimate expression of thankfulness. It was during the time that Hurricane Hugo leveled many homes in Central America. He and his wife decided to go on a mission project and help rebuild these homes to help people whom were "worse off, who had lost everything."

Truly, as Americans, we have many blessings, even in hard times. Join us as we remember our many blessings. Surely we have many things to be thankful for....

Now Is The Time

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Hunt Safely from Tree Stands

In an effort to outsmart the elusive whitetail deer, more and more Pennsylvania hunters are using trees to bag their quarry, according to Penn State Extension Agent, Earle Robbins. Tree stands have been very popular with hunters in archery season, and now more hunters are using them during rifle season. Hunters are climbing existing limbs or using ladders or commercial climbers to reach perches about 10 to 15 feet off the forest floor. Accidents may happen when hunting from tree stands.

People climb into tree stands when conditions are wet, icy or windy. They also fall asleep and fall out of the tree. They become excited when a deer appears and take one step too far. Remember, hunters cannot place a tree stand in any tree of their choice There is a $100 fine plus damages for placing a tree stand on public or private property without permission.

To Be Safe In Tree Stands

Earle Robbins, Penn State Extension Agent, offers the following safety tips when hunting from a tree stand.

1 Wear a safety belt or harness These products fit under both arms and are attached to the tree and hunter. If the stand breaks or slips, the hunter remains in position.

2. Always unload firearms before pulling them up into or lowering them from the tree stand

3 Choose an obviously healthy tree with branches that can support the additional weight Make sure the tree has no dead or fungal growths on the tree. Mushrooms or fungus on trees can be a sign of ill health

4 When climbing up or down, always ensure that your hand and feet are secure at three points before moving the fourth point and

5 Closely follow manufacturer's directions when using commercial tree stands

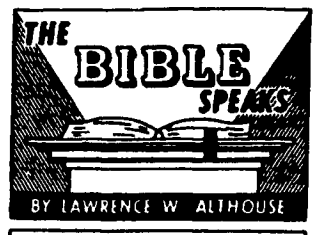
To Test Manure

If you have livestock, poultry or dairy and apply manure to fields, now is a good time to have a nutrient analysis of the manure, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent. Livestock and poultry manure contain a lot of valuable nutrients and should be considered a fertilizer.

A nutrient analysis will help determine the manure's true value as a fertilizer There is a great deal of variability in manure nutrient content from farm to farm Thus, it is very important each farm test its own manure in order to have accurate results State law requires this to be done on farms with two or more animal units (2,000 pounds or more of animals) per acre of land available for fertilizer application

Even if you have less animal units, this is a good time to begin manure analysis on your farm and apply the manure as a fertilizer based on crop needs.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "The currents that determine our dreams and shape our lives, flow from the attitudes we nurture every day."



JOSHUA OR JESUS?

November 21, 1999

Background Scripture:
Joshua 6
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 47

As a boy, I was fascinated by the Crusades. Like most people, I gloried in the chivalry of knights on a quest to wrest the Holy Land from the heathens. Later, when I studied the history of the English Civil War I was captured by the exploits of Oliver Cromwell in winning British Isles for the Protestant faith.

It was only considerably later when I was in college that I learned that the Crusades were one of the most shameful episodes in Christendom. I also realized that Oliver Cromwell, for all of his piety and passion for reform, was a ruthless tyrant who slaughtered thousands because of his hatred and fear of Roman Catholicism. It also became apparent that both the Crusaders and Cromwell's Round heads looked, not to Jesus and the four gospels for their guidance, but the bloodbaths of the Old Testament. These warriors—Israelites, Crusaders, Round heads and others—had a religious passion, but it was not passion that is compatible with the good news of Jesus Christ.

'UTTERLY DESTROY'

So, what do we do with a story like the one we find in Joshua 6, where God is depicted as calling for the decimation of all the people of Jericho? I don't think we can equivocate about the text: "And the city and all that is within it shall be devoted to the Lord for destruction." "Then they utterly destroyed all in the city, both men and women, young and old, oxen, sheep and asses, with the edge of the sword" (6:17, 21). "And they burned the city with fire, and all within it" (6:24). Can you put Jesus Christ in the picture? I cannot.

How can we understand this conflict between Old Testament extermination and New Testament "turn the other cheek" love. Some people might answer that God used to operate in this manner—killing men, women, children, young and old—but that Jesus changed all that. That may work for you but it doesn't for me. Others might counter by saying that the purpose was God's but the tactics were Joshua's. In other words, Joshua's methods colored the chronicling of this event. Perhaps. A third solution would be that God was not involved in any of this, but that the Israelites put him in the story to sanction what they did. Still others would maintain that, not only did God operate this way in the Old Testament times, but that he still operates in that way today. That makes me cringe.

This view of God makes it easy for us to justify the depredations of the Crusades, the inhuman crimes of the Inquisition, the decimation of America's native Americans, the Holocaust World War II and the ethnic cleansing in Yugoslavia today. I cannot put Jesus in any of those pictures either. Can you?

DIVINELY ORDAINED?

I do not wish to quarrel with this text or those who chose it for a Sunday school lesson, but I cannot consciously ignore its incompatibility with the gospel of Christ. Because of the Jesus Christ I have found both in the New Testament and my life and the God he reveals to us, I cannot believe that genocide yesterday or today is divinely ordained. Vicious, vengeful cruelty is not the Father to whom he introduced us.

Jesus and Joshua actually bear the same name, Yeshua, of which "Jesus" is the Greek form and "Joshua" is an anglicized version. Yeshua means "God (Yaweh) is salvation." The name is appropriate for Joshua because he was the savior of his people, picking up the reigns of leadership after the death of Moses. But the salvation which Jesus brought was something entirely different. His life and ministry was the antithesis of the leadership of Joshua.

While I can admire Joshua as a man whose faith was surely the most advanced of his time, I cannot accept the god depicted in these chronicles. The Spirit of God surely rests upon these pages, but the human hand is very heavy here and when I find Joshua in conflict with Jesus Christ, I will choose the latter.

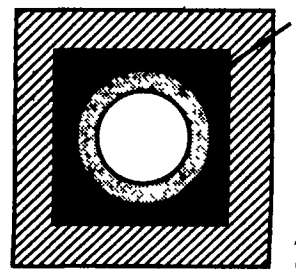
... For New Construction Why Not Examine The "Chimtek Difference."



Chimtek Inner Liners are madeof volcanic pumice and high-tempertature refractory cements, Its round shape provides even temperature inside flue and contributes to efficient flow of smoke and flue gasses. The volcanic pumice in Chimteck liners adds considerable insulating value.

All three chimneyliner systems disbrtiubed by DS Machine Shop are of super design, super performance, and super value. With all their advantages these chimney systems often cost no more than ordinary chimneys. Write or call us for more specific liner information.

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

KEN BAILEY
Penn State University
November 12, 1999

Cheese Prices Hit Support

Cheese prices at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange fell to support price levels. Prices for 40-pound blocks declined from $1.1450 per pound on Monday, November 8 to $1 10 on Wednesday and Thursday, November 10 and 11. Prices for 40-pound blocks then rebounded to $1.1250 on Friday, November 12.

Barrel cheese prices at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange declined from $1.1375 on Monday to $1.0975 by Friday.

The support price level for block cheese, called the CCC purchase price, currently is $1.10 per pound. It's $1.07 per pound for barrel cheese. At those prices the government stands ready to purchase unlimited quantities. But according to USDA there were no sales of cheese into the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC). The CCC has not purchased cheese under the dairy price support program since June 1997.

The market is clearly reacting to strong growth in milk production, high numbers of milk cows, and strong growth in cheese production. Last week USDA announced American cheese production for September was up 15.8 percent above year-ago levels. And, cheese buyers understand that the milk supply won't decline immediately since farm-gate milk prices won't show the effects of lower cheese prices until December (farmers will get these lower prices mid-January). That's because the Class I price under current federal orders will peak in November. The Class I mover is equal to the Basic Formula Price lagged two months. The November Class I mover is therefore going to be equal to $16.26 per cwt. Local Class I prices will equal the Class I mover plus the Class I differential.

It is also possible that cheese prices will recover somewhat in the weeks ahead. Cheese inventory is declining rapidly and demand for the fourth quarter is expected to be good. The GDP (gross domestic product) and Christmas shopping should be very good despite initial estimates that October retail sales were flat. Strong economic growth and consumer spending could result in higher sales of dairy products, especially cheese. That could pull cheese prices higher into the $1.20 range before the end of the month. The next cold storage report will be issued November 19. Stay tuned as this will be an important statistic for cheese prices!

My estimates of the BFP in Table 3 below are compared to CME BFP futures prices as of November 12, 1999. Outside of January 2000, my estimates are lower than the CME futures prices. Therefore my numbers should be considered worse case estimates. Clearly the market is expecting higher cheese prices than I have forecast.

USDA also announced this week a comparison between actual federal order prices and prices under the final rule. A federal injunction has temporarily suspended implementation of the final rule. For October 1999 the Class III price was $11.49 per cwt (the October BFP), but would have been $12.48 per cwt under the final rule. The Class I mover for October was $15.79 per cwt (August BFP), but would have been $16.54 per cwt under the final rule. For November the announced Class I mover will be $16.26 per cwt (September BFP), but would have been $12.90 per cwt under the final rule.

ATTENTION DAIRYMEN

LANCO Dairy Farms Co-Op Inc. is now a marketing division of Allied Federated Co-Op's of Caton, New York. We Would Like To Ask You These Questions: Are you tired of...

1. Mega-Merger's and Consolidations?
2. Lower Milk Prices?
3. Supporting High Debt Load Co-Op's with Your Farm's Milk Check As Their Banks Equity?
4. Paying High Salaried Executives & Directors?

Let Us Show You How You And Your Neighbors Can Put A Load Of Milk Together And Market Through Lanco! And Gain A Higher Bottom Line. Our Markets Are Wide Open And Waiting To Take Your Milk At A Higher Premium Than You Receive Now. Find Out Why Other Processors Are Calling Us For More Milk And Are Looking For Better Choices To Feel More Secure With A Local Milk Supply. The Processing Industry Is Not Happy Either.

But ongoing challenges to preserve the farm's water quality and to provide the best turkeys at table carving season continues at the farm.

Jeff, a 1976 graduate of Conestoga Valley High School, grew up working for the Levi Hertzog farm near Bareville. Jeff said he enjoyed doing a lot of different types of job for Hertzog, including fieldwork and other chores.

"I enjoyed growing up and spending time there," he said. "But I also enjoy being at home. I was always looking to do something like this."

Jeff began thinking about becoming a turkey farmer after delivering fuel to Nelson Fitz in York County. Then, after the decision was made, Jeff and Diane considered purchasing a farm in Port Royal, but turned it down because of the renovation work required. They then examined the work of the Junkins farm near Willow Hill, a tom turkey grower.

Not long after, land owned by Leon Fisher went for sale near New Providence. Jeff and Diane sold the house nearby (which Jeff built from scratch over a three-year period in the 1980s) to Jeff's parents, Bill and Eleanor. The Kiles purchased the Fisher land upon which the farm stands.

Kile, who began growing turkeys in August 1994, manages 35 acres (which are rented out to local operators). The farm maintains 21,000 turkeys every nine weeks for a total of 120,000 per year for Wampler Foods, New Oxford.

There are two houses. Each house is composed of a brooder area, where the poults are brought in, and a finishing area. The areas are separated by a small maintenance room.

Recently turkeys were shipped for market during the holidays.

They receive BUTs or Hybrid poults that are about 24-36 hours old. The poults are obtained from Wampler or Cuddy Farms in Ohio or Virginia. Pine shavings are also brought in, spread out, and cardboard circles are made to keep the poults at the brooder stoves. Feed pans are placed in for the young birds.

The poults are fed crumbs, or mush, from Wenger's Feed. The feed consists of grain products, plant products, vitamins, minerals, and plant protein.

In the first two to three days, Jeff noted, he is out there every two to three hours checking up on the birds, ensuring they are healthy and have proper feed and water.

A new nitrate removal system was installed for the water supply recently. "There's nothing like good water," Jeff said.

After the fifth or sixth day, the cardboard circles are removed and the auto feeders are lowered. The birds remain on the autofeed equipment until about 5-6 weeks and are moved to the back portion of the houses in an area measuring 400 feet long by 50 feet wide.

Wampler is concerned that the houses are biosecure. They are locked always. People movement is reduced. And dip buckets for boots are required.

Two-thirds of all the work done in a turkey house involves cleaning and disinfecting, noted Kile. If you don't like to clean, you wouldn't like to raise turkeys, he said.

Cleaning, before new birds arrive, is done all in about a day. One day is taken off to remove the birds. Both buildings can be

Opening Of Burley Tobacco Markets Delayed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The USDA has announced that the opening date for burley tobacco auction sales has been delayed until Nov. 29.

Burley tobacco auction sales were originally scheduled to open on Nov. 22. This date was recommended by the Burley Tobacco Advisory Committee (BTAC) on June 10 and followed a more than 30-year tradition of beginning burley tobacco auctions on the Monday prior to Thanksgiving.

The Tobacco Association of United States (TAUS) made a request to the chairperson of the BTAC, to delay the market opening until Nov. 29, add one additional sale day on Dec. 10, and recess the markets on Dec. 16 for a total of 13 sale days before the holidays. The request was made to help TAUS members overcome the problems of destruction, contamination, and shutdowns caused by Hurricane Floyd and subsequent flooding. The delay would give processors an opportunity to complete flue-cured tobacco purchasing and processing.

At the request of the BTAC chairperson, USDA conducted a telephone poll of BTAC members and learned that the majority supported the TAUS request. Also, BTAC members were polled to determine if they favored delaying the official weigh-in date from Nov. 8 to Nov. 15. A majority of members did not favor delaying the official weigh-in date.

Tobacco inspection and price support services will be made available at designated auction markets beginning on Monday, Nov. 29. Sales are scheduled to resume on Jan. 10, after the holidays.

Milestone 150,000th Round Baler Made

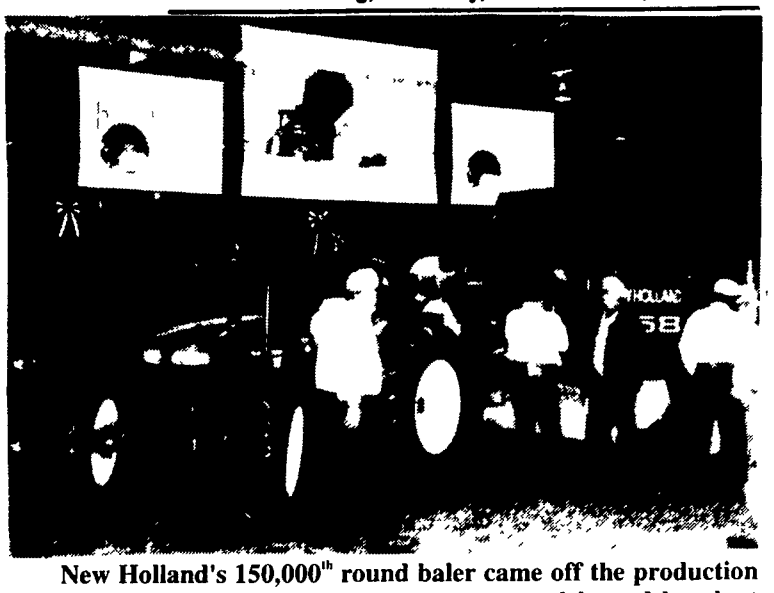
NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) - The 150,000th round baler emerged from the New Holland assembly line at the company's manufacturing facility amid the applause of hundreds of plant employees, company officials, and special guests from around the world who gathered at the plant to celebrate the event. The baler, a Model 658, is headed to C-Bar-W Farm in Tolar, Texas, and the owners Kyale Campbell and his brother-in-law, Mark Waldrep, were in New Holland Wednesday, to accept the new round baler from their local dealer, J.R. Walker, owner of Stephenville New Holland in Stephenville, Texas.

C-Bar-W Farm is a family-owned and operated business located on 1,500 acres in the heart of cattle country about 30 miles southwest of Fort Worth. According to Campbell, they'll use the new round baler to produce hay for their cow-calf operation, to put up bales for sale to other farmers, and to do custom baling for neighboring ranches

To mark the event, the baler, a stock model, was customized with a special paint job, the customers' names engraved on the mainframe, and a plaque designating its special place as New Holland round baler number 150,000.

This year also marks New Holland's 25th anniversary in the round baler business. Round balers have been produced in Lancaster County since the first one was made by the company in 1974.

Earlier this week, officials of CNH the international company created from the merger of New Holland and Case Corporation announced plans to operate under a multiple brand, multiple distribution business model. According to a news release Monday, from CNH headquarters in Racine, WI, the company will maintain its various agricultural equipment, construction equipment and financial services brands and corresponding distribution networks. The company intends to design and build products on common platforms, but with differentiated features that appeal to specific customer groups under the company's multiple brands. CNH products are sold under the following brands: Case, Case IH, Fermec, Fiatallis, Fiat-Hitachi, Link-Belt, New Holland, O&K, and Steyr.



New Holland's 150,000th round baler came off the production line this week, and the milestone event was celebrated by plant employees, company officials, and special guests.

Services, Inc., to provide export services for both buyers and sellers of genetic materials. Among his many successes, Rumler negotiated a technical assistance program with Hungary which led to that country's purchase of 23,000 Holsteins, mostly from the U.S., to move from a milk-deficit to a self-sufficient dairy producing country.

He also convinced leaders of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association to become involved in export marketing. As a result, over 17,000 animals, valued at $32 million have been exported and domestic marketing has been expanded.

Lehigh County also qualified for star awards in 13 out of the 18 Farm Bureau categories, including membership goal. Arland Schantz of Zionsville is president of the 592-member county organization. In addition to Lehigh County, several other counties received overall achievement awards for their Farm Bureau programs during the past year. For county farm bureaus with up to 370 members, Cambria County Farm Bureau won first place, followed by Warren County. For the membership category from 371 to 500 members, top place went to Susquehanna County, followed by Washington County. In the over-500 member category, Lehigh County was the first place winner. Berks County Farm Bureau came in second.

In a new award category, the rising star award was presented to the Clarion County Farm Bureau for having the most improved total Farm Bureau program since the previous year.

Young Farmer Achievement

The 1999 Young Farmer Achievement Award was presented to Brian and Jay Dietrich of New Tripoli, Lehigh County.

Alan Taylor of York County was selected as the winner of the Young Farmer and Rancher discussion meet. Both Taylor and the Dietrichs will travel to the American Farm Bureau's annual convention in Houston, Texas, early next year. In addition they received $500 checks from Dodge Trucks.

Adopts Policies, Elects Leaders

Voting Delegates elected leaders and adopted policies on a wide range of issues affecting agriculture.

Carl Shaffer of Mifflinville, Columbia County was re-elected to a two-year term as vice president of the organization. Shaffer has been serving in that post since April 1996.

Also elected was one new member and re-elected seven others to two-year terms on the board of directors. Terms had expired during the annual meeting for directors representing eight of Farm Bureau's 16 districts.

Newly elected is William Geise of Northumberland. Geise had been serving as president of the 409-member Northumberland County Farm Bureau. He will be representing Farm Bureau members from Montour, Northumberland, Snyder and Union counties in PA Farm Bureau's District 7.

State Board members who are re-elected at the Annual Meeting and the county farm bureaus they represent are:

Allen Roszel of Montrose – District 1 (Lackawanna, Susquehanna, Wayne, Wyoming); George Moyer of Frystown – District 3 (Berks, Chester/Delaware, Montgomery); Milford Kinsman of Troy – District 5 (Bradford/Sullivan, McKean/Potter, Tioga/Potter); P. Joseph Musser of Newburg – District 9 (Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Fulton); John Hileman of Hollidaysburg – District 11 (Bedford, Blair, Somerset); Donald Horner of Tionesta – District 13 (Armstrong, Clarion, Elk, Jefferson); Elliott Lengel of Mercer – District 15 (Fayette, Greene, Washington, Westmoreland).

In addition to elections, delegates also deliberated and voted on policy resolutions forwarded from the 54 county farm bureaus, finalizing the organization's grass-roots policy development process for the year. Policies adopted on national issues will be forwarded to American Farm Bureau for consideration at their annual meeting in January.

Policies adopted by delegates in Hershey addressed a variety of farm concerns including the impact of the 1999 drought. They approved policy which spells out the disaster assistance Pennsylvania farmers need from both the state and federal governments. Farm Bureau is recommending that drought aid from the state include grants, low-interest loans and the distribution of surplus feedstuffs including free transportation.

The federal disaster assistance program should also include grants, low-interest loans and free distribution of surplus government feedstuff.

Reacting to the recently discovered plum pox virus in Adams County which affects stone fruit such as peaches, delegates approved support for science-based state and federal programs to control the spread of the virus including eradication if necessary. If trees must be destroyed, Farm Bureau called for indemnity payments to producers based on established values of established orchard trees as well as nursery trees. The indemnification should take into account business interruptions suffered by growers as well as the long term consequences of the eradication program.

Addressing wildlife crop damage problems, delegates endorsed policy recommending Game Commission cost-share funding for wildlife control methods other than deer fencing, such as invisible fencing to contain guard dogs on cropland. Delegates also called for the Game Commission to work with Penn State researchers on studies and pilot projects for alternative crop damage control programs. Farm Bureau delegates also adopted a recommendation that an elk hunting season be established in Pennsylvania.

On farm labor issues, delegates recommended that state employment offices be required to check documentation of all worker referrals for citizenship status. During a farm labor conference earlier in the annual meeting, labor shortage problems due to immigration enforcement uncovering counterfeit worker documentation has been discussed.

Among other policy stances adopted by delegates are recommendations that:

- USDA develop an accurate blood test, plus a control and eradication program, and indemnities for Johne's disease in livestock.
- processors depooling milk from a federal order be required to keep milk depooled for at least twelve months.
- the impact on agriculture be thoroughly analyzed whenever a new country is being considered for inclusion in the World Trade Organization.
- support be expanded for a school choice and voucher system in Pennsylvania. Farm Bureau had previously only supported a pilot school voucher program.
- fast-track approval be forthcoming from the Department of Environmental Protection for on-farm water projects. The Natural Resources and Conservation Service should provide design assistance and cost-sharing for such projects.
- a specific line item budget be established for the State Conservation Commission and the staff be expanded to six full-time employees to aid conservation districts.
- reversed the organization's support of slot machines at race tracks. Farm Bureau now opposes slot machines at any location plus off-track betting and casino gambling in Pennsylvania.

cleaned out by noontime Saturday, if everything goes well. Monday and Tuesday Jeff washes and disinfects the facility.

The older birds are maintained on an earthen floor with sawdust that is rototilled once a week with feedline raised. The rototilling is necessary to break up the "cake" that accumulates on the floor to keep it dry.

The birds are fed a pellet grain composed of much of the same products as the poults.

The buildings are open-sided with automatic curtains. The curtains roll up and down depending on inside temperature. The fans run until the "hot days come," said Jeff, and then stay open all during the summertime.

The big problem comes with summer stress. The birds can "pick and pick" said Diane, which increases mortality. But through management, bird mortality is about 4-6 percent.

For fly control, turkeys have few problems. A control program uses a lime-like substance on the floor that contains an insecticide.

Wampler brings in the trucks to pick up the birds in time for the holiday season.

Jeff noted it was all the little things necessary that go into making a successful turkey growout. He enjoys the fact that he and his wife spend time with their two daughters, Christine, 6, and LeAnne, 8, at home. The children are students at New Danville Mennonite School.

Diane helps at the library and with the school.

The Kiles look forward to being able to take vacation. Sometimes they travel to a cabin owned by an uncle in Boalsburg or travel with Diane's parents, Milton and Jhoanne Hershey, to Raystown Lake.

As for their own turkey during the holiday?

"There's a man at church who raises them," said Diane. They purchase dressed turkeys from Leroy Funk.

Jeff also gets a turkey from the boss at Christmastime.

For Jeff, time is limited in the operation. He works on a "priority" schedule.

For young farmers trying to get started, there's just not a lot of options to cash-flow $5,000-an-acre ground, he noted. For the Kiles, the farm income carries the farm and Jeff's job takes care of living expenses. But he said he enjoys the lifestyle of farming above all.

He also remains open to how things can be done differently at the farm to make it more profitable.

Jeff recently rolled down a farm lane made up of pieces of shingle from Perry County. He is concerned about keeping the noise of the trucks down and the rubber-like new surface goes a long way toward reducing stone dust and noise.

Working closely with the neighbors is key to farm survivability, Kile noted.

Even before he began the farm, he spoke to the neighbors about his plans. He wanted to ensure that the farm not only would be viable, but welcome.

Jeff noted that he believes not only spending time with his children, but how he and his wife respond to the daily challenges of the farm goes a long way in building their character.

Keystone Futurity Entries Now Accepted

The 2002 Keystone Holstein Three Year Old Futurity entries are now being accepted. The Keystone Holstein Futurity is a project of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association to stimulate interest in breeding and developing outstanding Registered Holsteins for production and type regardless of individual herd size. Three nominations are required for each animal that competes. The first payment for the 2002 Futurity is due December 15, 1999. Any breeder may nominate as many heifer calves as they wish. There is a guaranteed purse of $500 to the winner.

Rules and Conditions

Eligibility: Any registered Holstein female of 87% parentage or higher bred and born in Pennsylvania between September 1, 1998 and August 31, 1999, is eligible for the Keystone Holstein Futurity.

Fees: First payment of $3/head with nomination paid by December 15, 1999, second payment of $11/head paid by September 15, 2000, third payment of $20/head paid by September 15, 2001.

Purse: All futurity monies shall be used only for Futurity purposes. The purse in this event will be divided with 50% or at least $500 being awarded to the first place animal. The remainder will be divided among those competitors who show in the 2002 Futurity Class.

Refunds: All nomination fees are committed to the purse. No refunds will be made whether an animal competes or eligibility is discontinued

Maintaining Eligibility: Eligibility after an animal has been nominated is maintained by making subsequent payment by due dates as specified. Any animal sold after being nominated will remain eligible, as long as the animal meets all other Pennsylvania Holstein Show eligibility requirements. The owner will be notified when payments are due. Failure to make the next payment cancels eligibility Entries are due for the 2002 Keystone Futurity by Dec. 15, 1999. Send entries and payments to: Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College, PA 16801.

Hall Of Fame Nominations

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association is seeking nominations for its Hall of Fame Award. The Hall of Fame Award is present annually to a member of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association recognizing an individual for their achievements and contributions to the Holstein Industry as well as activities in other agricultural and community activities.

Applications should be completed and forwarded to: Patty McMurray, 190 Seal Road, Eighty Four, PA 15330.

More information on the Hall of Fame Award can be obtained by contacting the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College, PA 16801. Phone 814-234-0364 or fax 814-234-1698. Applications are due by December 15, 1999.

Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association Sets Banquet

The Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association has planned its annual awards banquet to be held Wednesday, December 15, 1999, 6 30 p m , at the Holiday Inn, Grantville, PA A reception will be held from 5 30 - 6 30 p.m

For the second year, the awards banquet will be held in conjunction with the PA Dairy Stakeholders Conference. The Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association has chosen this partnership to encourage its members and all Pennsylvania dairymen to lend their full support and endorsement to the Dairy Stakeholders mission.

Since 1976, the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association has annually awarded its Charles E. Cowan Memorial Award to a Pennsylvania dairyman who demonstrates the ability to maintain a high level of production in his home operation, and who also shows leadership contributing to the improvement and promotion of the Pennsylvania dairy industry. Other honorees to be named will be the recipients of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association's 2000 PA Distinguished Dairy Women and Extension Awards.

The evening program will include speaker, Dr. David Blandford, Head, Department of Ag Economics' and Rural Sociology, Penn State University. His speech is titled, "Harnessing the Forces - National and World Implications, State Opportunities".

The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association invites all dairymen and industry persons to join in the evening awards banquet and to also learn from the numerous speakers who will be addressing the PA Dairy Stakeholders Conference on December 15 and 16, 1999

Tickets may be reserved by contacting David R. Smith, PA Dairymen's Association, 440 Plaza Drive, Palmyra, PA 17078, 717/838-3283. Ticket price is $18 and reservations must be made by December 9, 1999.

To register for the full conference, including the awards banquet, contact Beth Moore, Conference Coordinator, 717/375-2639.

Progress Is Name Of Game

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

(Chester Co.) — "Continual progress as we see the younger animals coming into milk is very encouraging to me," exclaims Nolan King, owner of Ton-Mar Holsteins. Nolan, along with his wife Nori and two daughters, Cierra and Cassidy, operate this beautiful farm situated on 103 acres. Haylage, baled hay, corn silage, high moisture corn, and soybeans along with a protein ration balances out the feeds on this 27,125 lbs. of milk, 870 lbs. of protein, and 936 lbs. of fat herd. Jim Longenecker from Agri Basics works hand-in-hand with the Kings to balance the ration.

Bob Poole, veteran PA DHIA technician, services this Chester County herd. Included in Bob's services are same-day test reports along with providing milk urea nitrogen (MUN) tests to closely monitor the nutrition of the herd. "We appreciate Bob's accurate service and his courtesy on test day. Testing with the PA DHIA is a very useful tool in managing our dairy," states Nolan King.

Please contact PA DHIA at 800-DHI-TEST to begin a herd management testing program for your dairy.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Farm Link Sets Workshop

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co) — Who will be the next generation of farmers?

"According to the 1997 Census, seventeen percent of Pennsylvania's farm operators are age 70 or older. Potential replacement farmers, under age 35, make up only eight percent of our total number of farm operators. At least one-quarter and as high as one-half of our farms could change hands in the next 15 years. How we address this problem will affect agriculture in Pennsylvania for generations to come," said Farm Link Director Marion Bowlan.

To help farmers and potential farmers plan for the succession of their farm business to the next generation, Pennsylvania Farm Link is sponsoring six workshops that will provide information for farmers on the decision-making process needed for a successful farm transfer. It is never too early to begin this process.

The second "Passing on the Farm" workshop will be Nov. 22 at the Mercer County Extension Office in the Leslie N. Firth Learning Center from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Information on business planning, loan resources, legal issues in a transfer, start-up strategies, how to bring the next generation into the farm business, record keeping, and estate planning will be presented.

Participating agencies and individuals include Pennsylvania Farm Link, Penn State Cooperative Extension, Farm Credit, Farm Service Agency, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, estate planners, attorneys, and local farmers.

Other "Passing on the Farm" workshops are scheduled:

- Dec. 16 at the Lewistown Center in Lewistown.
- Jan. 20 at the Arena Restaurant in Bedford.
- Feb. 10 at Morrison's Cove Memorial Park in Martinsburg.
- March 2000, location to be announced, in the southeast region.

Call Farm Link at 717-664-7077 by Nov. 15 to register for this workshop or to obtain information on this or other programs. Lunch will be available at a cost of $6 payable to Pa Farm Link. Payment must be received by Nov. 15 to reserve lunch.

The Mercer County Extension Office is located on Rt. 19, one mile north of Mercer, on the lefthand side cient hands for the business's grain output. Some 800 additional rented acres total adequate land size to raise corn, soybeans, wheat and barley crops.

Alquin Heinnickel Is Conservation Farmer Of The Year

Apart from that, when his and Dolores's three adult sons (who happen to all be at various colleges) come home, plenty of work is still found for them in the ag-operation founded by Heinnickel's great-grandfather.

Not surprisingly, Dolores has inherited the bookkeeping position and considers it her part-time job, she said.

Heinnickel's commitment to agricultural land preservation justified the recent decision to sell the development rights of the land to the Westmoreland County Farm Preservation Program. Thus the land will remain in agriculture for perpetuity.

The Watershed Protection Award went to the Franklin County Watershed Association, which used streambank stabilization and fencing, riparian planting and wetland restoration on Dennis Creek. The waterway belongs to the Potomac River Basin.

The Special Conservation Award was presented to the Franklin County Planning Commission for its unique and outstanding contribution to the conservation movement in Pennsylvania. Eco Park, and outdoor classroom is among them.

The Ann Rudd Saxman Conservation Volunteer Award went to Andrew Fitz, a beef farmer from Franklin County, who since 1984 has been a director with the county conservation district.

Conservation Organization of the Year Award went to the Tulpehocken Chapter of Trout Unlimited, Berks County. The group conducts a variety of conservation projects that involve other organizations and provide community service opportunities for youths on probation.

Katherine Dubin from Monroe County captured the Conservation Educator of the Year Award. Besides administering lessons in biology and ecology at the Stroudsburg High School, she runs the Pocono Wildlife Rehabilitation Center.

Harry Stokes of Adams County was named the County Commissioner Director of the Year at the 52nd PACD joint conference.

The M.K. Goddard Forest Resource Management Award went to Mr. and Mrs. William Rea, Westmoreland County. The forest landowners have done an outstanding job of managing their woodlands.

Mark Dubin, Franklin County, received the William Lange Urban Conservation Award. His conservation efforts were focused on the natural resources in an urban area of the state. An employee of Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources, Dubin directed the DEP's award-winning video entitled: "Dennis Creek: A Working Partnership."

Sam Smith, Indiana County, garnered Legislator of the Year Award. He has shown consistent support for conservation issues; made outstanding contributions to Pennsylvania's natural resource preservation and actively promoted mine reclamation in the state legislature. Additionally, he introduced legislation which led to increased funding for the state's conservation districts.

County Commissioner District Director of the Year Award, went to Adams County commissioner, Harry Stokes. The award recognizes a county commissioner member of a conservation district board, whose contribution is to the advancement of conservation districts at the local, state and national levels.

York County placed first in Annual Report of the Year. Westmoreland County was second and Chester County third.

Penn State junior, Doug Koontz, Everett, Bedford County received a $500 scholarship from the PACD auxiliary represented by Sarah Long, president elect.

Andrew Fitz, Franklin County, receives the Ann Rudd Saxman Conservation Volunteer Award plaque from Pat Sueck.

The PACD Auxiliary $500 scholarship was presented to Doug Koontz, Everett, Bedford County. He is a Pennsylvania State University junior majoring in Agricultural Business Management.

The auxiliary poster contest winners were: Dustin Colsher, Delaware County; Sam Spoor, Delaware County; Lloyd Mordan, Sullivan County; Samantha Faron, Bedford County and Regina Gile, York County.

Pat Sueck was recognized for serving as PACD president from 1997-1999. Frank Long is the successor.

"I think the state as a whole is headed in a conservative direction as far as our resources are concerned," Mr. Long said. "I want to see the people keep enthused about agricultural conservation uses and reclaimed mined areas."

"We are just getting started on reclaiming," he noted. "Ag is related closely to acid mine drainage because the water quality has an effect on crops and animals."

The keynote speaker on Monday was John C. Oliver, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. Samuel E. Hayes, state Secretary of Agriculture spoke on Tuesday.

Susan Fox, PACD executive director noted than an Expo with 41 exhibitors, for the first time was held at the event and considered a successful addition to the conference.

David Mankamyer, chairman of the Somerset Conservation District directors, in observing the mild fall weather outside, reported that a lot had changed from a similar conference held there sometime in the 1970s.

"The last time it was held in Somerset County there was a snowstorm and the directors got sore fingers from helping people put on snow chains."

Pat Sueck presents the Special Conservation Service Award to the Franklin County Planning Commission, represented by Phil Tarquino, Sherri Clayton and Phil Wolgemuth.

Pat Sueck presents the Watershed Protection Award to the Franklin County Watershed Assn., represented by Terry Snyder, Karl Brown and John Akers.

Ag Computing and Electronics Expo

TIMONIUM, Md. — From e-commerce to precision ag, high-tech dairying to risk management, the 1999 Ag Computing and Electronics Expo explores the future and delves into practical ideas you can implement now.

The fourth annual ACE Expo '99 takes place Wesnesday, Dec. 8, at the Holiday Inn Select, Timonium, Md. That's just off Interstate 83 north of Baltimore, an easy drive south of Harrisburg, Pa.

The ACE Expo program offers a host of interesting and useful workshops. Tracks cover precision ag, dairy and livestock, financial management, nutrient management, and a look at the future.

Registration opens at 8 a.m., with sessions running from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. To allow more time for in-depth discussion, many sessions have been lengthened to 1.5 hours.

Registration costs just $75 and includes a hot luncheon buffet with two entrees. Bring your spouse and get $10 off the second registration.

Checks must be received by Dec. 2. After that, you may register at the door for $100. If you wish to spend the night, contact the Holiday Inn Select at (800) 289-4499.

For more details, call Lancaster County (Pa.) Cooperative Extension (717) 394-6851; or Carroll County (Md.) Cooperative Extension, (410) 386-2760. Or check out the website at http://aceexpo.cas.psu.edu/.

Many of Lyn's floral and wildlife subjects have been inspired from the scenes that surround the Moser farm. Here Lyn sketches in one of the decades-old flower beds, which was started by her great-grandmother.

Lyn's Delicate Porcelains Begin On Bally Farm

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

BALLY (Berks Co.) — When Lyn Moser began painting in 1967 to supplement farm income, she did not know that she would become a world renowned artist or that she would be commissioned to paint for international markets.

While fame and success have come her way, some things have not changed.

"I love being a farm wife and living on the farm," Lyn said.

Enhancing enjoyment even more is that the Moser family farm, which sits on both Berks and Montgomery counties, has been in Lyn's side of the family since 1837.

"It's wonderful being surrounded by the things I love," Lyn said of the memories associated with the 400-acre farm and the spacious farmhouse.

As she enters the sun parlor bordered with windows on three sides, Lyn said, "This is the addition my great grandfather built in 1932 to welcome his wife home after she traveled in Switzerland."

Lyn pulls out a wooden drawer tucked beneath a deep windowsill as she explained the purpose of the drawer. When the home was first built, the woman of the house was an aristocrat who thought it unthinkable to have farm hands come into the house.

"So they came to this window and she paid them with the cash she kept in this drawer," Lyn said.

The lilacs her great-grandfather Ulysses planted in 1931 still bloom in one of the numerous flower beds on the property.

Warming closets, a seven-room basement, and other unique features have been retained in the centuries-old house that Lyn and her husband LaVern purchased in 1977.

"A house should have a voice," Lyn said.

Hers certainly does. Lyn's artistic eye enables her to use color and style to showcase many family heirlooms.

Out of necessity Lyn has learned to plaster and do almost every aspect related to house upkeep. She explained the reason by asking the question, "Does a farmer have money to pay to have it done or the time to do it himself?"

While the kitchen has been remodeled and other changes made, Lyn has always made it a priority to honor the heritage of the property during the restoration work.

Lyn's art studio is in the basement of the 18th century farmhouse. There she has a breathtaking display of framed matted pictures, plates, and Victorian painted globes.

"I orginally began in oil paints, but switched to porcelain when I realized the kiln-fired colors would be permanent and not subject to fading," Lyn said. "I was attracted by the depth of color possible by this medium."

A self-taught artist, Lyn has become a world-renowned porcelain painter. She was commissioned to paint a series of porcelain plates for national companies such as the Bradford Exchange and for Royal Nordic Treasures. Readers may recognize her name and work, which appear in many national magazines.

Painting glass-globed lamps are a natural extension of Lyn's work with porcelain. She explained that the techniques are similar. The use of light illuminates all brush strokes and increases the aspect of three-demensionality.

"I love the depth and vibrancy that can be achieved by painting on porcelain," said Lyn, whose pieces are sold internationally. To achieve her signature depth of color and texture, Lyn starts with white porcelain. Each piece is painted a minimum of three times and kiln fired at temperatures up to 1,500 degrees between paintings. The extreme heat causes the glaze to soften and the paint becomes a permanent non-fading part of the porcelain.

The Victorian lamps glow with equisite detail.

Lyn said that during the Victorian era, the lamps were painted and placed to dominate a room.

"I am more comfortable with the artistry of illusion, focusing on warm colors, evoking a mood of hospitality and grace rather than illuminating a dark room," she said.

When the lamp is lighted, the color is changed by the lighting. This requires Lyn to pay extra attention to detail so that the subjects look real whether or not the lamp is lighted.

Lyn strives to paint the flowers to look as though they can be lifted from the glass and held in a cupped hand, and that the wildlife seem candid and posed to leap into the background.

In addition to restoring the paint-

Moser Family Welcomes Visitors To LaLisa Holsteins

LaLisa Holsteins facilities include this double-ten, 70-degree parallel parlor with basement. The Bally farm includes a gravitation flow flush system and two bedding-pack barns with a capacity for 240 head, along with a roofed, drive-through feed alley. LaVerne and Lyn Moser and son Mark operate the farm that has been in Lyn's side of the family since 1837.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

BALLY (Berks Co.) — LaLisa Holsteins' sparkling facilities and enthusiasm of owners LaVerne, Linda, and Mark Moser showcases agriculture at its best.

The milking parlor was designed so that visitors can stand inside and watch the cows being milked.

The attractive, super-clean facility is part of the marketing package that enhances people's attitudes toward milk production.

The operation was designed to make everything as efficient as possible, because LaVerne and son Mark have no additional employees to help milk 160 Holsteins and care for the 480-acre farm, which straddles both Berks and Montgomery counties.

"Some plan their operation for hired labor — we're the hired labor," Mark said of the operation that was streamlined to work as efficiently as possible.

Mark offers this advice to farmers who plan to revamp their operation: "Make things as efficient as possible for jobs you hate doing, so you don't mind doing them."

Case in point for the Mosers was cleaning the milking parlor. Mark said, "I hate cleaning. So I designed it so that it could be washed down fast. Hustling, I can clean it perfectly — no shortcuts — in 12 minutes."

Although LaVerne and Mark work together now, they designed the facility so that one person theoretically could manage alone. To enable one person to completely handle the milking, each gate was sychronized to serve a dual purpose, such as to direct cattle into one area and to pen them in the other side.

The milking herd is divided into three groups, which they nicknamed "fast," "slow," and "turkey."

The slow herd refers to the cows producing the most milk; the fast for the opposite; and the turkeys for the isolation group such as twisted stomach.

The Mosers said their goal is to have healthy cows at all times. "We don't have time to spend with them. They must take care of themselves," Mark said.

Moser Family Welcomes Visitors

The Mosers strive to use as little antibotics as possible. They prefer to use natural remedies such as whey products, and vitamins B and C.

"Natural remedies work for us. We haven't treated a single cow for mastitis in five or six years," Mark said.

He acknowledges that natural methods don't seem to work for everyone. "But if you find something that works for you, stick with it. As long as it works for us, we are sticking with it," Mark said.

"My concept is to cure the cow, not the problem. You can treat e-coli and get rid of it, but the cow will get sick from the toxins released," Mark said.

Lyn said that her son, a 1991 Cornell graduate, is always experimenting to control costs in feed and production.

Mark said that he likes to take a small trial group and a control group when determining the benefits of changes.

"I ask myself: Does it make my life easier? Does it make money," Mark said.

Cows are fed a total mixed ration consisting of corn, alfalfa, high moisture corn, wet brewer's grain, minerals, and a custom protein mix.

The operation is serviced by a gravity flow waste water system consisting of a 70,000 gallon primary separation tank, a 1,500 gallon secondary separation tank, and a million gallon lined lagoon. Waste is pumped to 52 spray heads into an adjoining five-acre field.

The water that cools the milk is recycled into a 650-gallon tank, which is used to wash the milking parlor and then put into a holding pen for a flush system.

When devising their new facilities, the Mosers looked at operations from New York to Virginia.

They picked up concepts at many different places to incorporate into their own planning.

After two years of living with their new facilities, the Mosers agree: "Everything works well. There were no surprises. We wouldn't change a thing."

They updated facilites were installed two years ago with the goal of having everything paid off in 10 years. The father and son are pleased that everything seems to be going as planned.

"We are a small family farm that took ideas from large operations to incorporate. We showed the bankers we could cut our costs and pay back the debt," Mark said.

In researching facilities, the Mosers were repeatedly advised that they must milk 300 cows to make the operation profitable. They have proved that figure misleading.

"We are two guys doing everything, and the milk produced per man per year is more than 1.5 million pounds. That's twice the efficiency we said we were shooting for," Mark said.

Although the operation is designed to go as high as a 500 cow herd if desired, they prefer to keep it to 160 milking cows at this point. With replacements, the fully registered herd numbers 275.

"Most farmers fill their barns to capacity as soon as they expand, but we heard too many horror stories," LaVerne said. "We prefer slow growth so that we can use all our own replacements."

Most of the time, LaVerne milks the herd by himself and Mark takes care of the fieldwork. About 240 acres are used for corn, 90 for alfalfa, and the remainder for pasture and experimental fields of sorgham and sudangrass. The Mosers contract custom harvesting.

The barn was built more for cow comfort. The open-sided barn allows fresh air and sunshine to keep the herd healthy and happy. A bedding pack eases leg stress.

The rolling herd average is about 19,500 pounds.

LaVerne said, "We do not stress high production. We are lax in our culling and plan to give that more attention next year."

No BST is allowed, according to the standards set by Rosenberger Dairy, where the Mosers' milk is shipped.

"But even if Rosenbergers did allow it, I wouldn't use it," LaVerne said. "I question the financial gain realized and it adds additional stress to the cows."

During the expansion, the Mosers worked daily from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Lyn served as the site contractor, and much of the work was done by the Mosers themselves.

The herd was housed five miles away on LaVerne's family farm. The herd was divided into four milking groups in a stanchion barn.

"Now we can do two milkings in the time it took us to do one milking," LaVerne said of the updated facilitites.

The drought this past summer caused stress to the crops, but the Mosers figure they fared better than many farmers.

"We start earlier in the season and work longer than most others. We double-crop everything and take four to five cuttings of alfalfa annually," LaVerne said. The last field works finishes in December.

The Mosers said that they have a three-pronged program:

- Produce quality milk
- Raise replacements
- Raise forages and grain as much as possible.

Conservation practices include a farm plan, cover crops, minimum tillage, crop rotation, grassed waterways, and tiling practices. In addition to working on a nutrient management plan, the Mosers have installed a junction box with 24-inch pipe for storm water connecting two stand pipes with stone basins. They also utilize an irrigation system for water water.

The Mosers estimate that they work from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., but Lyn sees that as fantasy-thinking.

"They work longer hours than that," she said. "But they always have a smile on their faces no matter how tough it is."

"It's our hobby and our livelihood. The work still has to be done so it's no used complaining about it," LaVerne said.

The farm, which sets on both Berks and Montgomery counties, has been in Lyn's side of the family since 1837. Although allergies prevent Lyn from helping with the daily chores, she is deeply entrenched in agriculture.

"I fight to preserve farming practices," Lyn said. She serves on Bally Boro Council, on the Land Use Committee and the Well Head Protection Committee. She also is on the Ag Security Committee in Washington Township, a director of the Independent Farmers Association, and director of the Berks County Conservation District.

Lyn was excited about opening their farm during the 26th annual Berks County Farm Tour sponsored by Berks County Farm Bureau recently.

"It's an educational process that enables the non-farming community to see how much farmers care about the environment, and that we are good stewards of the land," she said.

The Mosers also have an adult daughter, Sandy, who is a writer in the Washington D.C. area.

Lyn also has developed her artistic talents. See adjoining story about Lyn's world-renowned porcelain paintings.

Lyn's Delicate Porcelains Begin On Bally Farm

ing on antique globes, Lyn can get missing pieces for lamps and can fix them to function either as kerosene or electric lamps without destroying the antique part. She uses 24-carat gold in the restoration.

"Lamps should be from the 1860s to 1910s to make the cost of the restoration cost-effective," Lyn said.

Lyn takes great pride in the fact that she has gained the reputation of being able to match pieces so closely that the difference between the original and replacement piece cannot be differentiated.

She also has the reputation of being able to work with tight deadlines and of being cooperative.

She often paints companion pieces such as a lamp and picture in similar subjects or colors.

Lyn said that her framed porcelain tiles revise the concept of porcelain painting. Overglaze painting — an art form dating back 4,000 years to early China — is often considered a very formalized style of art, but Lyn's painted tiles reflect soft haziness combined with the permanancy of porcelain pigments.

"I love the depth, vibrancy, translucency, and texture that I can achieve with procelain," Lyn said.

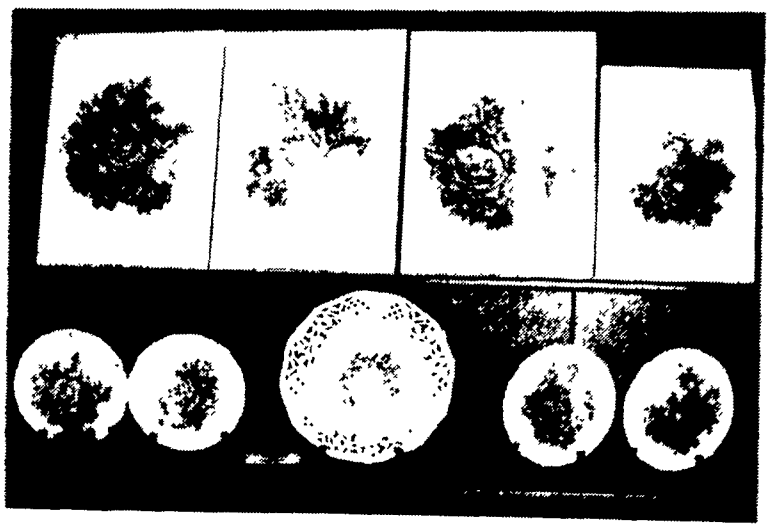
Many of the scenes are inspired from the land that surrounds her: wildlife, song birds, flowers, landscapes, and changing seasons.

"Everything has a story," Lyn said of her pieces that combine art, history, and emotions. Included with her pieces are writeups about why she painted the piece. Here is a portion of the printing that appears with a painting of Granny's Favorite Pansies: "This piece honors the memory of my grandmother. Whenever I look at it, I remember the pansies that Granny kept on her kitchen table—their cheerful dark faces floating on water in a yellow soup bowl."

Lyn's original pieces are labor intensive and are often purchased for investment pieces in metropolitan areas more than in rural area.

Over the years, many people who admired Lyn's work could not afford it. In her search to find more economical ways to share her artwork, Lyn developed a method of reproducing her work on photographic paper to produce the same

(Turn to Page B7)



Lyn's hand-painted pieces require three-separate paintings and are kiln-fired between each layer of paint to ensure permanence and depth to make the painting look "hyperreal."

Thanksgiving Dinner Made Easy

Most people prefer a traditional Thanksgiving Dinner: turkey with all the trimmings, mashed potatoes, corn pudding, cranberry relish, rolls, and pumpkin pie.

According to taste testers, the method most preferred in roasting turkey is the open pan roasting method, which creates a juicy, tender, golden brown, picture-perfect turkey.

- Place thawed or fresh turkey, breast up, on a flat rack in a shallow pan, 2 to 2½ -inches deep.
- If unstuffed, insert oven-safe meat thermometer into the thickest part of the thigh. If stuffed, place the tip of the meat thermometer inside the stuffed cavity of turkey.
- Brush or rub skin with oil to prevent drying of the skin and to enhance golden color.
- Place in preheated 325-degree oven.
- When skin is a light golden color and the turkey about two-thirds done, shield the breast loosely with a tent of lightweight foil to prevent overcooking of the breast.
- Recommended roasting times are 3-3½ hours for 10-18 pounds; 3½ -4 hours for 18-22 pounds; 4-4½ hours for 22-24 pounds; and 4½ -5 hours for 24-30 pounds. Begin checking for doneness 30 minutes before end of estimated time. When the turkey is fully cooked, the leg will move easily when wiggled; juices will run clear, and 180 degrees will be reached on a meat thermometer.

If you are having a houseful of company, chances are you don't have enough room in the oven to bake turkey, stuffing, and corn souffle. Make the stuffing in the crock pot. You can put it in the crock pot several hours before dinner and forget about it until ready to serve — tastes great!

Did you know that lumpy mashed potatoes can't always be blamed on the cook? Some types of potatoes are better for mashing than others. Not all potatoes taste the same either.

The problem is that there are so many different varieties and most are lumped together when sold in grocery stores. Your best bet is to buy potatoes from farmers' markets and determine the taste and texture your family prefers and continue to buy that variety.

If you have additional questions, call the experts at the Turkey Talk-Line at 1-800-323-4848. Specially trained home economists will also answer calls on line at www.butterball.com — a great source for turkey tips and recipes.

JEANETTE'S SPICED CRANBERRIES

1 package cranberries
1 cup water
1 cup raisins
2 cups sugar
⅛ teaspoon ginger
⅛ teaspoon mace
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon allspice

Put all ingredients in pot and cook until skins break and mixture is thick. After cooked, remove from stove and stir in 1 cup walnuts, which have been broken into pieces. Place in jars and refrigerate until ready to serve. Will keep indefinitely.

CORN SOUFFLE

2 cups cooked corn
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon corn starch
2 cups milk
3 or 4 eggs, beaten
4 tablespoons butter, melted
1 green pepper, cut in rings

Combine corn, salt, and sugar. Dissolve corn starch in small amount of milk. Add with remaining milk to corn mixture. Add eggs and butter. Pour into buttered casserole and top with pepper rings if desired. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes, or until set.

SCALLOPED POTATOES

4 cups peeled, sliced potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons parsley
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons butter

Mix together flour, salt, and parsley. Add milk and shake. Put in saucepan; add butter. Bring to boil, stirring until thickened. Remove from heat. Place half the potatoes in 2-quart casserole dish. Pour half the cooked mixture over potatoes. Add remaining potatoes and pour mixture over them. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

In American homes, Thanksgiving dinner is a time to remember the bounty available from field to table.

BUTTERSCOTCH PUDDING

First layer:
1 cup flour
½ cup butter
½ cup chopped nuts

Mix and press into 9x13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Cool.

Second layer:
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup powdered sugar
1 cup whipped cream

Beat together and spread over first layer.

Third layer:
2 small 3-ounce packages instant butterscotch pudding
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Prepare according to package directions. Pour over second layer.

Cover with whipped topping. Garnish with chopped nuts.

FOUR CHEESE PUMPKIN APPETIZER

2 cups shredded Colby cheese, room temperature
1 cup shredded provolone cheese, room temperature
1 cup cottage cheese
8-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Paprika
Green bell pepper
Assorted crackers

Combine Colby cheese, provolone cheese, cottage cheese, cream cheese, mustard, and Worcestershire sauce in work bowl food processor. Process until smooth. Wrap in plastic wrap and refrigerate several hours for ease in shaping and to blend flavors. Shape into pumpkin and sprinkle with paprika. Use a piece of green bell pepper for the stem. Allow to stand at room temperature about 20 minutes prior to serving with assorted crackers. Yields 8 cups.

AUNT MARION'S FRUIT SALAD DESSERT

11-ounce can mandarian oranges, drained
20-ounce can pineapple chunks, drained
16-ounce can sliced peaches, drained, cut into bite-sized pieces
3 bananas, sliced
2 unpeeled red apples, cut into bite-sized pieces

Fruit Sauce:
3.4-ounce package instant vanilla pudding mix
1 cup cold milk
⅓ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
¾ cup sour cream

In a large bowl, combine all fruit. Mix together gently; set aside. For sauce, combine all ingredients in another large bowl. Beat with wire whisk until smooth (mixture will thicken). Gently fold fruit into sauce. Cover and chill 3 to 4 hours before serving. Makes 10 servings (2 quarts).

If you prepare the day before, wait to add bananas and apples until the day you will be serving.

Featured Recipe

You can make stuffing on the stovetop, buy frozen vegetable side dishes and grab last minute supermarket salads and relishes to fashion a holiday dinner. But bottom line, it's the turkey and gravy that are the centerpiece of the meal.

An easy way to guarantee easy clean-up and an evenly browned turkey is to use a cooking bag. Several varieties are available. Make sure you follow the directions on the package to ensure proper cooking.

Here is a recipe from Reynolds Kitchens, who by the way, are as close as your personal computer or telephone. They'll give you tips on defrosting your turkey, directions for getting it ready for roasting, and your choice of four kitchen-tested roasting methods.

Log onto their website at http://www.reynoldskitchens.com or phone 1-800-745-4000.

SIMPLY DELICIOUS HOLIDAY TURKEY

1 Reynolds oven bag, turkey size
1 tablespoon flour
2 stalks celery, sliced
1 medium onion, sliced
12-24-pound turkey, thawed
Vegetable oil
Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Shake flour in oven bag, place in roasting pan at least 2-inches deep.

Add vegetables to oven bag. Remove neck and giblets from turkey. Rinse turkey; pat dry. Lightly stuff with your favorite stuffing recipe, if desired. Brush turkey with oil. Place turkey in oven bag on top of vegetables.

Close oven bag with nylon tie; cut six ½ -inch slits in top. Insert meat thermometer through slit in bag into thickest part of inner thigh, not touching bone.

Bake 2 to 2½ hours for a 12 to 16 pound turkey; 2½ to 3 hours for a 16 to 20 pound turkey; 3 to 3½ hours for a 20 to 24 pound turkey or until meat thermometer reaches 180 degrees. Add 30 minutes for stuffed turkey. Let stand in bag 15 minutes.

If turkey sticks to oven bag, gently loosen bag from turkey before opening oven bag. Makes 12 to 32 servings.

"A house should have a "voice," Lyn Moser said. Her 18th century home surely does. Lyn's artsy touches add to the historical significance and beauty of the home, which has been passed down through Lyn's side of the family since 1837.

Delicate Porcelains

clarity and depth that the glass pieces have.

Many of her designs are available in high quality, limited edition prints. These reproduction prints sell from $20 to $145, whereas the orginals sell from $325 to $2000.

"I think of consumers' need and reproduce pictures in standard sizes so that the consumer can purchase a frame and mat.

Lyn fills a trailer with her projects to haul to galleries and juried shows in surrounding states. At most shows she constructs a wall 10x10-foot wall system to hang up her pictures. Lyn likes the opportunity to get out and talk to people who often inspire new ideas for her work. She said that her husband is her best critic.

Unlike most artists, Lyn said she is not crushed by negative comments. "That's my school — to hear the good and bad. That's how I've learned to perfect my work," she said.

In the past, Lyn has painted jewelry and Christmas ornaments, but now she is busy with custom work and the freedom to do projects that inspire her.

Although allergies prevent Lyn from helping with the daily chores on the family farm, she is deeply entrenched in agriculture.

"I fight to preserve farming practices," Lyn said. She serves on Bally Boro Council, on the Land Use Committee, the Well Head Protection Committee. She also is on the Ag Security Committee in Washington Township, a director of the Independent Farmers Association, and director of the Berks County Conservation District.

The Mosers have a son Mark, who works full time on the family farm, and a daughter Sandy, who is a writer in the Washington D.C. area.

Lyn's art studio and showroom is in the basement of the 18th century farmhouse, where she also teaches classes.

For more information about Lyn's artwork, write to Lyn Moser's Studio, 411 S. 7th St., Bally, PA 19503-0102. Or call (610) 845-3731.

QUESTION — Joann Niebaver, Irvona, wants recipes using ground cherries, sometimes referred to as husk tomatoes.

QUESTION — Irene Hurst, Newmanstown, misplaced her recipe for honey mustard pretzels. Anyone have the recipe that includes honey, mustard, and optional use of sour cream and onion powder?

QUESTION — Mrs. John Gawrye, Pottstown, clipped a recipe for chocolate pumpkin cake from this paper but lost it. She really liked it and asked if someone could send in the recipe again.

QUESTION — Sue Slimmer, Myersville, Md., would like a bread recipe that uses a lot of grain. She'd also like to know of cookbooks featuring bread.

QUESTION — Richard Kleckner, Quakertown, wants recipes for cakes baked from scratch, drop cookies, one-dish meals, homemade bread made from all-purpose flour, not bread flour.

QUESTION — Jane Sauble, Manheim, wants a recipe for Moravian pie.

QUESTION — A reader wants recipes to make sugar-free jams using fruit juice as a sweetener. She also would like a source to purchase elderberries or juice.

QUESTION — Janet Weisner, Kempton, wants recipes to make yeast breads in the following flavors: strawberry, blueberry, apple cinnamon, cheese, and cream cheese.

QUESTION — M. H. would like a custard recipe for use in filled doughnuts.

QUESTION — Holly Carey is looking for a recipe for a wet bottom chocolate shoofly pie that tastes like that served at Bird-in-Hand Family Inn.

QUESTION — Norma Eckard, Gettysburg, wants a recipe for dietetic peanut butter balls and other sugar-free candy recipes.

QUESTION — A reader wants a recipe to make chicken chow mein for 50-100 people.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know if it's possible to make puffed wheat or puffed rice without much financial investment.

QUESTION — G. Sweitzer, Airville, wanted recipes for using gray hubbard squash.

QUESTION — Phyllis Stauffer, Carlisle, wants a recipe that Little Caesar's used to have. It was a buttery dip with herbs that they served with breadsticks.

QUESTION — A reader would like recipes to use barley in stews, as a whole-grain breakfast cereal, etc.

QUESTION — Dianne Decker, Shippensburg, wants a recipe for Shaker Pie, which is a very wet pie made with coconut.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know where to buy Swiss cheese with a touch of ham and blue cheese by the roll or pound. She can find these items in 4-ounce packages, but they are very expensive. She would also like to know where to buy shrimp chips in a big box.

QUESTION — Brenda Houser, Middletown, would like a recipe to make cookies that taste like the ones served at Shady Maple Smorgasboard. The varieties that she likes are Chocolate Chip Truffle, which has a chocolate batter with chocolate chips in it and a soft chocolate center, and Peanut Butter Truffle, which has a peanut butter batter with chopped nuts and a soft peanut butter filling.

Thanksgiving Dinner

PEPPERMINT WHIPPED CREAM TOPPING

1 cup whipping cream
½ cup crushed peppermint candy
2 tablespoons powdered sugar

Combine all ingredients in a chilled bowl. Whip until stiff. Pipe through pastry tube to form rosettes or spoon dollops onto waxed paper. Freeze until ready to use. Cover when frozen; keeps up to two weeks. To serve, heat a cup of milk for each serving to scalding. Stir in 1 tablespoon chocolate mixture into each cup. Top each cup with a dollop of peppermint whipped cream.

SLOW-COOKER STUFFING

12 cups bread cubes
1½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons parsley flakes
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups chicken bouillon

Place bread cubes in large bowl. Mix poultry seasoning, salt and pepper in small bowl; sprinkle over crumbs. Melt butter in large skillet; add onion and celery. Saute until tender; stir in parsley. Pour over crumb mixture. Add eggs and bouillon; toss well. Spoon into slow cooker. Cook, covered, on High for 1 hour, stir. Reduce heat to low. Cook 1½ -2 hours or until liquid is absorbed. Yields 8 cups.

ANSWER — Joyce Lambert, Shinglehouse, wanted a recipe for salt-rising bread. Thanks to Bob Rumer, Jenkintown, for sending a recipe.

Salt-Rising Bread

1 cup milk, scalded and cooled
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons corn meal, white preferred
1 tablespoon butter
3 cups flour

Add salt, sugar, corn meal, and butter to the milk. Place this in glass fruit jar or a heavy crockery pitcher and surround it with water at 120 degrees. Allow to stand six to seven hours or until it starts to ferment. If it has "worked" enough, the gas can be heard as it escapes. This leaven contains enough liquid for one loaf. If more loaves are wanted, add 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, and 1 tablespoon butter for each additional loaf. Make a soft sponge by adding 1 cup flour to each loaf to be made. Beat well. Put the sponge to rise again at 120 degrees. When it is very light, add more flour (2 cups flour for each loaf) gradually so that the dough can be kneaded and not stick to hands. Knead 10-20 minutes. Put in a greased pan. Let rise until 2½ times its original size. Bake in 400-degree oven 15 minutes and then at 350-degrees for 45 minutes or until done.

ANSWER — Thanks to a reader from Kearneysville, W.V., for sending barley recipes that had been requested. She writes that barley can be added to vegetable beef soup, beef stew, and chicken stew. Always remember to add sufficient liquid or broth so the barley will absorb liquid and not make the dish too dry.

Garden Patch Barley

2 tablespoons olive oil
¾ cup barley
1 large onion, sliced, separated in rings
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
2 cups broth (chicken, beef, or vegetable)
2 large tomatoes, wedged
2 large sliced carrots
1 medium green pepper, cut into strips
1 medium zuchinni, sliced
1 cup cauliflower florets
1 cup broccoli florets
2 cups fresh green peas
1 teaspoon Italian herbs
Salt and pepper to taste

Heat oil in a large skillet. Add barley, onion rings, and garlic. Saute over medium heat about 5 minutes or until barley and onions are golden. Add broth, cover and cook 30 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add remaining ingredients. Cover and continue to cook 15 minutes longer or until vegetables and barley are tender. Seasonings can be adjusted to taste.

Barley Vegetable Pockets

½ cup vegetable pearl barley
1⅓ cups water
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tablespoon sesame oil
½ cup shredded carrot
½ cup finely sliced green onion
¼ cup chopped fresh mint leaves
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
Salt and pepper
Pita bread

Combine barley, water, and salt in saucepan and bring to boil. Reduce heat. Cover and cook 45 minutes or until barley is tender and liquid is absorbed. Combine lemon juice, sugar, soy sauce, and sesame oil. Cool barley to room temperature. When cool, stir in carrot, green onion, mint, and parsley. Season with salt and pepper. Serve on pita bread or spoon in bowl and use as a dip with pita bread.

BAKED SWEET POTATO WITH CRUMBLED BLUE CHEESE

For each serving:
1 sweet potato
1 tablespoon butter
¼ -½ cup crumbled blue cheese
½ teaspoon chopped fresh herbs or a pinch dried herbs (parsley, fennel, marjoram, dill)

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Thoroughly scrub sweet potato and dry. Lightly prick potato skin with fork and bake until tender, 40-60 minutes. After sweet potato is cooked, cut slit in top of potato approximately three-quarters the length of potato.

Push ends of potato gently and fluff with fork. Top with butter, crumbled blue cheese, and fresh herbs. Serve immediately. Enjoy!

PUMPKIN-MINCEMEAT PIE

Unbaked 9-inch pie shell
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup canned or cooked pumpkin
⅓ cup sugar
¼ teapsoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
⅛ teaspoon cloves
¾ cup undiluted evaporated milk
2 cups prepared mincemeat

Combine and blend together egg, pumpkin, sugar, salt, spices, and milk.

Pour mincemeat in bottom of pie shell. Spoon pumpkin mixture over mincemeat layer.

Bake in 400 degree oven for 45-50 minutes or until knife inserted halfway comes out clean.

WHEAT BREAD

In 6-quart bowl, combine:
1 quart warm water
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons yeast

Let set 10 minutes. Add:
1½ tablespoon salt
1 cup oil
4 eggs

Beat well. Add:
4 cups whole wheat flour
8 cups white bread flour

Mix well. Dough should be sticky, not dry. Let rise in warm place until doubled in size (1-1½ hours). Punch down and let rise again. Punch down and make 5 loaves. Put in bread pans and let rise until light to the touch, about 45 minutes. Bake at 300-325-degrees for 30 minutes or until golden brown.

It was not the most uplifting way to start a day.

My pre-dawn breakfast reading material was the weekly FAX message on dairy commodities pricing, which had come in the previous night. For about the tenth week in a row, cheese prices, basis for the nation's milk pricing, had dropped. So on the morning news was that we were looking at, again, a several-cent drop in every hundred pounds of milk we produce, on top of the $5 per hundredweight drop, which was already beginning to work it's way through the pricing system.

Turning up next under the FAX papers was a stack of mail unopened from the day before. Containing several known bills and surely a couple of unbudgeted ones as well. And hanging over my head, that weekly deadline, preferably of upbeat and cheerful material.

At 4:30 a.m. the correspondence sprawled over the table did little to uplift or cheer the mood. Then I remembered that the church's prayer list needed to be updated that morning. With several illnesses, injuries, and a death to add to our weekly list of folks in sickness and pain. A glance at the calendar to confirm the list date flashed a sudden thought: Thanksgiving was just a few days away.

The reminder — that falling prices and ongoing bills can be dealt with, but failing health is often beyond our human help — jolted my gloominess to gratitude. And forced me to rethink things... a little more thankfully.

Thankful for both the milk checks and those bills piled up on the stack, representing our continuance in what is an increasingly challenging way to earn a living. Farming. For financial institutions and businesses who work with farmers during both good times and bad.

Thankful, for the basket of dirty clothes waiting to be laundered. Because it means we are able to get out of bed. Stand up and walk. And to work. Life is not meaningful without some worthwhile purpose. Cows and newspaper deadlines provide purpose aplenty.

Thankful, for the used breakfast dishes and milk glasses waiting in the sink — and the full bellies they represent (Too full for many of us!) For fresh milk and tasty meat, for broccoli and bananas, for the lingering Early Girl tomatoes hiding under row cover in the garden. For jars of homemade grape juice and jelly made from neighbor John's vines hung this season with abundant fruit. Not to mention for ice cream, doughnuts and chocolate.

Thankful for gritty floors. For handfuls of gravel which gravitate to the kitchen rug from small toy tractors and mini-machinery. For refrigerator magnets relocated to the dishwasher amidst grubby fingerprints, for forgotten small hats left behind on the table, for cookie crumbs and lost sippy-cup lids which turn up eventually while we search for something else For having our grandchildren living a half-mile, instead of a continent, away

Thankful for a family we can still call, visit, invite for dinner and share our lives with And for fond memories of those we can't

For cows which stomp our toes, knock down fences, come down with strange maladies, deliver calves in the middle of the night, visit the neighbors — and then turn at milking and lick us in the face in greeting.

Thankful for ringing phones which keep us informed and for message machines, which take those calls when we can't. (Yes, we know you HATE to talk to machines.) For computers and calculators and mechanical aids galore.

Thankful for used tractors which still run, for trucks which keep truckin' despite flat-tire outbreaks, for the combine getting past the harvest season without succumbing to a death wish. For patient parts people who help located needed auger bearings and hydraulic connectors and head gaskets. For gifted mechanics with magical air wrenches and miracle socket sets.

Thankful to be living in a free country — where our citizenry takes freedom so much for granted that many can't even be bothered to vote to help keep it that way.

I asked one of our employees what he was thankful for. He replied that it was for "being here."

Me, too.

And for all the blessings — and challenges — which enrich our "being here."

Happy Thanksgiving!

Guild Holds Christmas Show

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — During the Holiday Craft Fair being held at the Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster on November 27 and 28, the Pa. Guild of Craftsmen will feature eight authentic craft demonstrations including clay sculpting, wooden spoon carving, dollmaking, carousel carving, jewelry making, paper embossing, theorem painting and old-fashioned spinning. The public is invited to learn about these and other craft techniques and speak with the actual craftspeople about their training.

Unlike other craft shows, The Pennsylvania Guild of Craftsmen are a non-profit organization whose purpose and intent is to promote, encourage and develop the crafts through educational opportunities, information services, encouragement and fellowship. More information on the Guild can be found at www.pennsylvaniacrafts.com.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Many of our readers are requesting recipes to bake in jars and other gift ideas. Here is one that Betty Gilroy, Nanjemsy, Md., requested. A special feature on gifts to make in the kitchen will appear in the Dec. 11 th issue. Thanks to Bob Rumer, Jenkintown, for sending this recipe.

Gingerbread Baked In Jars

2¼ cups all-purpose flour
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup margarine, softened
¾ cup hot water
½ cup molasses

Preheat oven to 325-degrees for jars. Grease five 12-ounce jelly jars — they must have straight sides, no bulges in the jars. Also, the jars must be sterilized by boiling them in hot water bath for 10 minutes, leave the lids and rings in the water until ready to use, remove the jars and allow them to air dry and cool before greasing. Use a pastry brush to grease jars with shortening. Do not use vegetable oil spray.

In large bowl, combine flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger, cinnamon, and cloves. Stir in margarine, water, and molasses until well blended. Divided equally into five jars. Place jars on a cookie sheet to prevent them from tipping over.

Bake for 35 to 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted deep in center of each jar comes out clean. Have your lids ready hot. Take one jar at a time from the oven (using heavy-duty mitts—the jars are hot! Place a lid and tighten with a ring. Allow to cool on counter top. You'll know when the jars have sealed, you'll hear a plinking sound. If you don't hear the sound wait until the jars have cooled, then press down on the jar lids, they shouldn't move at all.

If you'd like to decorate the jars, wait until they've cooled completely. Remove the ring (the lids have sealed by now) and place a wad of cotton in center or each lid; place a piece of decorative cloth (about 3-inches larger in circumference than jar lid, cut with pinking shears over the cottom. Screw the ring back on.

ANSWER — Lois Ann Martin, Canandaigua, wanted a recipe to make Parmesan Pepper Chicken Wings. Thanks to Bob Rumer, Jenkintown, for sending a recipe.

Garlic Pepper Parmesan Chicken Wings

2 pounds chicken wings (approximately 15)
3 heads garlic, separated into cloves and peeled
1 cup plus 1 tablespoon olive oil, divided
10-15 drops tabasco sauce
1 cup grated parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon black pepper
1 cup Italian bread crumbs

Place garlic, 1 cup oil and tabasco in food processor or blender. Process until smooth; pour into small bowl. Combine cheese, crumbs, and pepper in shallow dish. Dip wings in garlic mixture and roll in crumb mixture until thoroughly coated. Brush shallow, non-stick pan with remaining oil. Arrange wings in single layer. Drizzle remaining garlic mixture over wings. Sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Bake 45-60 minutes at 450 degrees until brown and crisp.

"In only three weeks of using the Chi Machine, I lost 15 pounds effortlessly - and hospital lab tests showed that my blood cholesterol level dropped from 225 to 160 mg"

How do I use my Chi Machine?

* Place the machine on a rug Lie on your back and put your ankles in the grooves of the footrest on top of the machine
* Set the timer switch to activate the machine for the number of minutes you desire First time users should start with 2-5 minutes
* The footrest will begin to move back and forth, carrying your feet briskly from side to side This movement will carry up through your legs and torso, throuthout your entire body, causing you to wiggle back and forth - that's right like a fish swimming in water
* All you do now is relax and breathe deeply, letting the machine rock you gently but firmly for a maximum of 15 minutes
* When the time is up and the machine stops, remain lying down for another two to five minutes, relaxing and breathing deeply, enjoying the remarkable afterglow - chi - as it moves throughout your body

"In two months of using the Chi Machine, my thighs, hips, stomach and buttocks now look as good as they did when I was in my 20's - and I'm almost 52"

Fun And Learning Meet At Liberty Elementary Ag Day

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Tioga Co. Correspondent

LIBERTY (Tioga Co.) — Imagine looking out the window at your school and seeing the soccer field being transformed into a yard full of farm animals.

That's exactly what happened at Liberty Elementary School on October 29, as farmers from throughout the school district brought pigs, chickens, horses, rabbits, dogs, a goat, a lamb, a cow, and a calf to the school.

Livestock trailers were lined up along the road and the entire student body, from kindergarten to sixth grade, spent the day outside learning and having fun.

The Ag Day was the idea of two teachers who had attended the Ag in the Classroom workshop at Penn State over the summer.

Pam Thomas, who teaches first grade, and Marna Wirth, who teaches fourth grade, agreed that the day was a success.

"I told the kids that we were going to have an Ag Day. While we sat in the classroom that morning, we could see the farmers unloading. The kids were glued to the window. The highlight of the whole day was actually seeing the animals and being able to touch them!" Wirth said.

"They were in awe over the animals," said Mrs. Thomas. "It was definitely worthwhile. I wish we could do something like this every year."

The day was a well-organized learning event. At each station, a farmer gave a talk on his or her area of expertise and then students participated in an activity related to that particular animal.

Jeff Rush spoke to a group of students about horses. In his presentation, he told about the differences between riding horses and draft horses.

After learning about hogs, students took part in a corn shucking relay.

Can you milk a cow? Every student got a chance to "milk" a glove at the dairy cow activity station.

Seed spitting for distance taught the kids about measuring and estimating distance.

At station number one, Trudy Faivre faced eager students with two chickens and an opening question, "How many eggs does a hen lay in a day?"

"It was amazing," said Faivre. "In every class from sixth grade on down, not one student said the right answer. There was one student who guessed 16 and another guessed 20."

Mrs. Faivre soon set the record straight when she told the kids that the correct answer was one. She also educated both students and faculty when she noted that you can tell if a chicken will lay brown eggs or white eggs by looking at the color of the earlobe.

"If the earlobe is white, the chicken will lay white eggs. If it's red, you'll get a brown egg," she said.

Mrs. Faivre also showed the children various foods that a chicken might eat. She had the students pick out what makes the majority of the layer's diet.

"I took samples of oyster shells, grass silage, food scraps, a piece of bread, oats and chicken pellets, and I had the kids pick out the three things we feed to our chickens. Most groups picked the food scraps and the bread. Then I told them we feed them chicken pellets, oats, and oyster shells. I told them the birds can eat the other things too, but it's like giving the chicken junk food."

After learning about chickens, students divided into two teams and raced to collect the eggs from the hen house. Each person had to dig through a pile of straw, locate a plastic egg place it in his basket and run back to hand the basket to the next team member.

Soon the whistle sounded, warning groups that it was time to move to the next activity.

Volunteer Jen McCarthy instructed the kids at station two in how to make a scarecrow. Each class stuffed newspapers into bib overalls and shirts and decorated a pumpkin face to create a class scarecrow.

At the next stop, Don and Janet Norman gave a presentation on sheep. Their 5-month-old ram caught the attention of the group and both students and adults had lots of questions.

(Turn to Page B11)

"I was surprised about how little they knew about sheep," said Mr. Norman. They were really interested in the coyotes and the wolves and whether a sheep dog would attack the sheep (as they had seen in movies). They asked about things that they had seen and wondered if it was right."

Each child got to feel the wool and learned about the lamb's diet.

"The whole day worked out very well. It's good to see that they want to learn more about agriculture. In my talk, I pulled out a briar and some grass and asked the kids if they would eat these things. I explained that we let the sheep go out and eat these things, and then we can get food from the sheep," Mr. Norman said.

Following the sheep lesson, the students again divided themselves into teams to compete in a sack race.

The next stop along the trail was learning about dogs with Colleen Brenneman. There students got an up close look at 165-pound Atticus and 135-pound Devon.

"I gave a talk about how dogs worked on farms," said Ms. Brenneman. "I told them the history of Great Danes." The Great Dane breed is the Pennsylvania State Dog.

Ms. Brenneman also was quick to give pointers about behavior around animals.

"I told them they didn't have to be afraid because it was a large dog. I told them how to approach a dog and that they need to pay attention to the animal."

Ms. Brenneman, who is a speech and language arts teacher at the school, was wholly supportive of all the activities. "When I talked to the kids later, they said they really enjoyed the whole day. I think its great that we were promoting farm life. I'm constantly impressed at the sense of community and unity in Liberty. You really feel like you're part of the whole, and that's not a feeling you get a lot anymore."

After a chance to greet the two friendly pets, the classes again divided into two groups and participated in a dog biscuit relay. Using a clothespin which was held in their mouths, students had to pass a dog biscuit down the line until the last person dropped the biscuit into a dog dish.

From dogs to doggies, the classes next participated in a branding iron exercise. Students had to try to finish the spring round-up first using a branding iron and a covered tin can (the calf). The students had to run to pick up the can, open it up, blow a whistle, put the whistle back in the can and run back to the line to tap the next participant.

This activity was followed by a talk about maple syrup, honey, and field crops that farmers grow.

Sue Heyler will always remember the look on the children's faces when they smelled the silage.

"I knew I needed to have something to get their attention," said Mrs. Heyler. "I let them smell the silage and you should have seen their faces! I said, can you imagine that a cow eats 50 pounds of that stuff a day?"

Eating was on the mind of many other students who asked if humans could eat some of the same things that cows eat.

"One class was shelling oats and eating them," said Mrs. Heyler. "We told them that this is what is used to make some cereals."

In most of the groups, the kids had so many questions that the time passed quickly. One question about bees stumped even the presenter.

"They asked how many eggs a queen bee lays in a day. I didn't know the answer, so I had to look it up. It turns out that a good queen will lay about 1,000 eggs a day," Mrs. Heyler said.

The next stop for the children was at Nancy Vollman's post. She and her 7-month-old Nubian goat entertained kids and answered lots of questions such as "How much does she weigh?" "How old is she?"

"Ours is a pet. I told them that we've had her since she was three days old and that we kept her in the basement and fed her with a bottle. When she was big enough, we moved her outside," said Mrs. Vollman.

Applied math was the focus of the next activity. Each team was allowed to spit seeds as far as they could. After a couple of practice spits, each participant tried to out spit the competition with the best out of three tries. They then measured the distances and estimated how far an entire class could spit seeds.

After the final measurements were in, the class moved to the next activity, where Gilbert Harris gave them an up-close look at two hogs and explained all the different uses for a pig.

"I think the thing they were most interested in was the fact that we use the whole pig and that you can use the heart valves from a pig for a human heart. My grandfather used to say we use everything but the squeal," Mr. Harris said with a laugh.

The children were also interested in actually seeing where the various cuts of meat are on the hog. The day for Mr. Harris meant having a golden opportunity to teach kids about the food supply. "Ignorance breeds hatred," he said.

"If they're not taught, they don't understand the whole process and that just creates problems for the farmer. This is a chance where we can really tell the kids where the food comes from. A lot of kids don't know that. It's not just from a grocery store, there are farmers out there."

Mr. Harris also liked the idea that the learning was mixed with fun activities.

"It was a big day for the kids. They would play a game and then they were ready to sit down and listen to what was going to happen next," he said.

Since a large part of a hog's diet is corn, the students had to try their hand at corn shucking after the presentation. Teams had fun as they raced to be the first to have shucked all of their corn.

The next stop along the trail involved learning about horses. Jeff Rush brought two horses, a Belgian draft horse and a registered Paint riding horse.

"I showed the kids the comparison in size and talked about the different uses of the horses. I also showed them how to drive a draft horse," Rush said.

Mrs. Thomas though the kids really enjoyed learning that the draft horses respond to commands in their own language; gee for right, and ha for left.

"I called it horse language," said Mr. Rush.

Students were also concerned that placing shoes on the horses' feet might hurt the horse.

"I assured them that it did not hurt them if the nails were properly placed," added Mr. Rush. "I thought there was a lot of interest and fascination on the part of the kids."

After learning about horses, kids again divided into teams for the "horseshoe" toss using rubber rings. The team with the most points won the game.

The next stop of the day was at the rabbit pen. Presenter Sally Vaughn was pleased that rabbits were included in the activities.

"People don't usually think of rabbits as a farm animal," noted Mrs. Vaughn, "so I was glad to represent rabbits and let kids know that rabbits are used for meat and fur, not just cute, cuddly pets."

In the past, the Vaughns have raised New Zealand rabbits for meat. Presently they have only two pet rabbits, a Rex and a Dutch.

"They're both pet and show rabbits," noted Mrs. Vaughn. "Most of the kids wanted to tell about their pet rabbits. An amazing number of kids had pet rabbits."

The twelfth stop of the day was at the dairy station. Students learned about dairy cows and got to try their hand at milking using a rubber glove filled with water.

"In a rural community like Liberty, we often feel that the kids know about farm animals and farming. But the truth is, some people live in the country all their lives and never set foot on a working farm," said Carolyn Moyer who talked about the dairy cows.

All the children paid close attention as they learned about how much milk a cow gives every day (70 pounds for Gracie the Jersey), how much water she drinks (about a bathtub full) and what types of food she eats (silage, grain, hay and grass). The kids also learned about the different breeds of dairy cows and how long it takes for a calf to grow into a full-grown milk producing cow.

"Many kids didn't realize that the cow had to have a calf before she could be milked," said Mrs. Wirth. "They were also amazed at how you feed the animals and that you have to put in nutrients and really watch the balance. They think you just put the animal out to pasture. They didn't know the diet has to be regulated in order for them to produce.

Mrs. Moyer also told the kids about the importance of drinking milk and coached them in a brainstorming session about the different products we make from milk.

"We talked about the benefits of drinking milk especially the protein and the calcium and I asked them how many liked to drink milk. Lots of kids raised their hands. Then I asked them how many of them would rather drink a can of soda. Some hands went up, but when we talked about the good things you get in milk compared to the sugar you get from soda, the kids realized that they needed their milk," she said.

In order to make the Ag Day work, cooperation was needed from all the teachers, the students and the farmers.

"The teachers enjoyed it too," said Mrs. Thomas. "They were very supportive. We were so excited that everyone could come and spend the whole day. That everyone could be there that day was a miracle in itself," said Mrs. Wirth who was impressed that the volunteers were ready to do the whole thing again next year.

By organizing the Ag Day, Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Wirth were able to share a little bit of the knowledge that they gained at the Ag in the Classroom workshop with the entire school in hopes that the children will learn to appreciate the origin of their food.

Both Mrs. Wirth and Mrs. Thomas would recommend the Ag In the Classroom program to all teachers. "To see these farmers presenting this information is really neat. Farmers work so hard," said Mrs. Thomas.

Mrs. Wirth said, "The fact that it was actually people working in agriculture who made these presentations was great. That way we got firsthand experience."

For Holly Roupp, a sixth grader, working with the lamb was the best part of Ag Day.

Gracie the Jersey was on her best behavior as five sixth grade girls give her an affectionate pat.

From left, M. Maxwell Smith, retired Lancaster Agriculture Extension agent, discusses the impact the Rural Youth organization had on Lancaster County Youth with former members Emma Plastow, Marian Nolt Lefever, Richard Lefever, Melvin R. Stoltzfus, and Pauline Stoltzfus.

'Rural Youth' Gather To Remember

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.) — The gray and bald heats, trifocals, and canes were forgotten as 80 former members of the Rural Youth of Lancaster County (RYLC) gathered for a reunion recently.

Members recalled memories of more than 60 years ago as they talked about the role RYLC played in shaping their lives.

"Remember when 50 of us drove to Holloway Beach? One car got lost on the way down and another caught fire on the way home," a former member said.

Instead of watching sports events on television, members made their own entertainment. This included forming an orchestra, a band, a chorus, or going bowling, playing basketball and volleyball, organizing a box social, a rummage sale, doggie roast, talent show, and numerous other events. The group acting in 22 three-act plays.

Roy Brubaker, a former president of RYLC, said, "The plays were pretty popular. One year we presented a play in the Millersville Gymnasium and had standing room only.

Brubaker also remembers attending leadership schools in Wisconsin, Iowa, New Jersey, and Ohio.

Eight past presidents of RYLC gave a short resume of events they remember during their term in office.

It was determined that at least 68 people met their spouses through RYLC activities. Many members credit RYLC with giving them leadership skills that enabled them to fill positions in churches, communities, and vocations.

At the reunion held at the Leola Family Restaurant, the program was planned to be just like old times: Leo Weaver served as committee chairman; Samuel Shenk was master of ceremonies, Richard Lefever gave the invocation, and Julia Moore Zahn had devotions. Carl Diller played his harmonica and read a poem, "A Child's View of Retarded (Retired) Life." John and Evelyn Ranck played their accordians and led the group in old-time songs.

To keep "remembering," the group plan a picnic for next year's gathering.

Deadline For Beef Industry Scholarship

DENVER Colo. — Through the Chicago Mercantile Exchange Beef Industry Scholarship Program, the National Cattlemen's Foundation (NCF) and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME) are offering $20,000 in scholarships to college students pursuing careers in the beef industry. A total of 16 students will each be awarded $1,250 in scholarship monies One of the 16 recipients will be selected to receive the top prize of an all-expense paid trip to the Cattle Industry Annual Convention and Trade Show in Phoenix, January 26-29, 2000.

Student applying for the scholarship may pursue careers in agricultural education, communications, production, research or another area related to the beef industry. To be eligible, a student must: a) be enrolled or plan to enroll as an undergraduate student in the College of Agriculture at a four-year institution during the 1999-2000 academic year: b) write a brief letter indicating what role the student sees him or herself in the beef industry upon graduation; c) write a 750-word essay describing an issue confronting the beef industry today or in the future and offer his or her solutions (cite two references used); d) obtain two letters of reference from current or former professors or industry professionals; e) prepare a cover sheet to include name, school name, year in school and both current and permanent mailing addresses and phone numbers; and f) submit materials to: Chairman Donald Butler, National Cattlemen's Foundation, P.O. Box 3469, Englewood, CO, 80155.

Introduced in 1989 to celebrate the 25th Anniversary of Live Cattle Futures, the CME Beef Industry Scholarship Program continues to recognize outstanding youth in the beef community. The National Cattlemen's Beef Foundation will administer the program and select the winners. Essays will be judged on clarity of expression, persuasiveness, originality, accuracy, relevance of topic and solutions offered. Applications must be postmarked by November 29. Winners will be announced at the Cattle Industry Annual Convention, January 2000.

Strong Roots Build Strong Branches

Since 1970, Thanksgiving Week is recognized as National Family Week. It is a time to encourage families and individuals to renew their energy and incentive in the celebration of daily life. This year's theme is "Strong Roots Build Strong Branches." Family togetherness and tradition nourish and support the growth of strong and healthy family members.

In his book, "The Seven Habits of Highly Effective Families," author Stephen Covey notes that most people will say they value their family more than work, friends, and other personal interests, but when they examine how they spend their time, the family comes out in second place. Gradual changes in our culture, the law, economics, and technology, have created an environment that has caused people to become confused about what is most important to them. Covey says to prioritize our families we need to consider them as "non-negotiable." When we do this, we will be able to make choices that help us reach a reasonable balance between outside activities, work schedules, and family life.

Making a commitment to spend time together is a way family members can prioritize the family Call it family time, family night, a family meeting or whatever you choose. Do not get discouraged if it doesn't go as it was planned The key is to plan a time once a week. Schedule it into the calendar and stick to it! Keeping it simple makes it easy on the pocketbook.

A good time to start may be Thanksgiving Day Since this is a celebration that often includes three generations of family members, it is a good opportunity to strengthen intergenerational family ties. Turn off the TV, gather everyone together, and try the following activities.

A Delicious Way To Share Thankfulness

Purchase a large bag of individual funsize M&Ms. Have family members sit down together at a table. Let everyone open their M&Ms and tell something they are thankful for based on the colors

Blue - people, Orange - adventures, brown - places, red - serendipities, green - things, yellow - funny stuff

When We Were

Gather family members from three generations. Choose a time in the life of each generation you will try to recall (for example, teenage years). Then have each generation recall home tasks, school memories, important world events, favorite music transportation, fun times or choose other subjects for that time in their lives. Share some memories about each one.

There are many ways other ways you can spend time together as a family. Consider the following things to do and places to go:

Walks

This family tradition can begin with very young children. Take infants in a stroller or infant carrier. Toddlers can take short walks, but may want to ride in a stroller for longer ones. Let older children help choose where to go. Walking is good exercise. It is also a good time for family members to talk with each other.

Read Stories Together

Reading to your children is a key to help them learn how to read. Go to the library together. Help young children choose books. After children begin reading, take turns reading out loud to each other. This can become a tradition that the family will enjoy over the years.

Singing

Children teach their parents songs they learn in school and parents or grandparents can teach them songs they know. Record your favorite songs or play tapes of music family members enjoy. Don't be afraid to sing silly songs and laugh together. Sing together in the car or while taking walks.

Family Stories

Telling family stories about things in the past, both about funny events and things that went wrong shows young children that parents learned some lessons while growing up. It will help children know their family history.

Going Out

Occasionally, go someplace as a family. Decide as a family where to go. Choices may include sporting events, concerts, museums, or community events, Bike riding, camping, the zoo, picnics or fishing are other fun things to do as a family.

You can get more information about how to strengthen your family by contacting the family living agent at your county extension office. Request the publications "Celebrate Your Family for families with young children," "Celebrate Your Family for families with teenage children," or "Celebrate your Family Across Generations." Information about how to conduct a family meeting is also available.

Uncle Sam Cow Brings 'Moola' To Combat World Hunger

CHICAGO, Ill. — Generous support of the dairy industry in the November 9 Cows on Parade Charity Auction of Chicago's life-size art cows, resulted in a cow, affectionately referred to as "Uncle Sam," of raising more than $92,000 to help relieve world hunger

The patriotic red, white and blue "Uncle Sam Cow," sponsored by Dairy Farmers of America (DFA), secured the second highest bid with the help of cattle auctioneer Tom Morris of Amery, Wisconsin. Morris drove the crowd into a frenzy of bidding excitement, cattle auctioneering style. Ramping up the bid with a rapid parade of messages about dairy farmers and the wholesome freshness of milk, Morris' gavel dramatically fell on the final $92,000 bid offered by a group of DFA customers, employees and business associates.

Proceeds from the sale will go to dairy relief Inc. — a nonprofit organization formed to receive donations to provide dairy products for use in efforts to end world hunger.

"We are delighted with the results of the auction," says DFA Board Chairman Herman Brubaker. "The interest for this cow far exceeded our expectations from start to finish. We've had a good time with her and now the funds she has generated for Dairy Relief Inc. will be put to good use providing wholesome dairy product to needy people around the world. We are pleased to have been part of this activity that has brought excitement to Chicago and joy to the hearts of so many people who have seen the cows on the streets of Chicago."

Uncle Sam Cow was one of more than 300 artistically decorated cows to adorn the streets of Chicago throughout the spring and summer. The design and marketing of Uncle Sam Cow is the work of artist Stan of Flair Communications in Chicago. Throughout the exhibition Uncle Sam Cow was among the more popular of the bovine beauties. She was one of a select group to attend the Illinois State Fair where she was named "Most Popular." This fall she traveled to Washington, D.C. for a special exhibition on Capital Hill. On her return to Chicago she was somehow diverted to Buffalo and briefly lost. Word of the incident made it into "Newsweek" magazine.

Uncle Sam was purchased by a "very generous" group of dairy industry executives and DFA employees. Contributions to the Uncle Sam DRI drive ranged from $10 to $10,000 according to Agnes Schafer, executive director of corporate relations. "People really got behind this cause. It was a tremendous effort in a short two week fund raising period. The event gave us an excellent opportunity to come together for a good cause and to call attention to our industry and the farmers who provide consumers with milk and dairy products."

The top bid of $110,000 was raised for the purchase of "Handsome" cow. Proceeds raised went to the benefit of Chicago's Children Memorial Medical Center.

Dairy Farmers of America is a dairy marketing cooperative that markets milk for 25,000 dairy farmer members in 45 states. DFA supplies milk to bottling and manufacturing plants that produce a complete line of dairy products and food components for consumers in the U.S. and around the world.

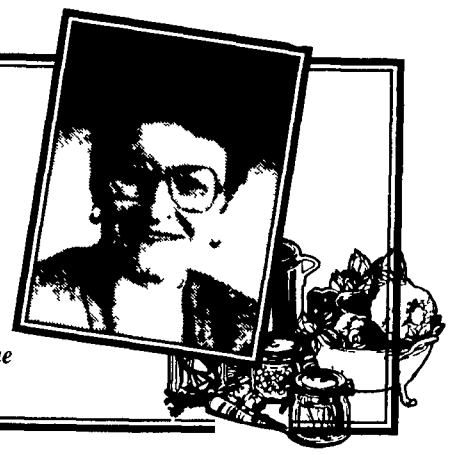
Consuming Thoughts

by

Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.



As they look forward to Thanksgiving and the other holidays, many homemakers are planning now for those busy days ahead. If you're going to make gift items from your kitchen, you'll find the supermarkets are stocked with all of your baking needs and feature an assortment of nuts, spices, and dried fruits

When planning ahead and choosing a recipe for holiday entertaining or gift-giving, consider when you make the food and how long it must stay fresh before you present it

Following are storage guidelines and shelf lives.

Fudge: tightly covered container in a cool place, two weeks. Wrapped in vaporproof wrap in a freezer, three months.

Divinity and pralines: Tightly covered container in a cool place; two weeks.

Hard candy: Tightly covered container in a cool place; one month.

Crisp cookies: loosely covered container; two weeks Vaporproof wrap in freezer, nine to 12 months If cookies soften, heat five minutes in a 300 degree oven

Soft cookies: Tightly covered container, two weeks Vaporproof wrap in freezer, nine to 12 months

Cakes: Tightly covered in a cool place, one to three days Vaporproof wrap in freezer, four to six months unfrosted, two to three months with cream frosting Thaw at room temperature one to three hours

Quick breads: Tightly wrapped in vaporproof wrap in a cool place, two days or up to one week of very moist In a freezer, six to eight months Thaw wrapped at room temperature one and one-half hours

Yeast breads and rolls: Tightly wrapped in moisture-vaporproof wrap in cool, dry place, one to three days In a freezer, nine to 12 months unglazed, six months if glazed Thaw wrapped at room temperature two to three hours, for crisp cut, thaw unwrapped

Cheese balls and cheese spreads: Tightly wrapped in plastic wrap or foil in refrigerator, three to four days

Margarine spreads: tightly covered container in refrigerator, one week

Home-canned fruits, vegetables, pickles: In sealed jars in cool, dark place, one year

Dry Snacks: Airtight container at room temperature, two weeks

Remember, gifts of food are not just to these holidays They can also say happy birthday, thank you, good luck, and welcome, too

by

Ida Risser

Life on the farm has changed a lot from the time when I was a child. In my family there were seven girls and so the oldest ones had to do the chores that boys usually did. We fed the chickens and gathered the eggs. We led the horse up and down the barn hill to unload the hay. In September when the silo was filled we were sent to tramp down the silage with our bare feet as it fell from the blower.

And, I remember picking up potatoes — especially because I accidentally stepped on a mouse and killed it under my barefoot. Then there were the days and days of planting tobacco and later the tedious job of hoeing it under the hot sun. Luckily I was in school when the crop was harvested and therefore did not need to help. The younger girls helped in the house and the older ones in the fields.

My mother canned some of her garden produce and some was dried. She had a drying rack that sat on top of the old cookstove and it was charred from getting too hot. Sometimes the oven did the drying. Here is where the ears of corn were stacked until dry enough to shell and be ground into cornmeal.

Social events were community picnics and church activities And not to be forgotten were the visits to relatives. Playtime at our house was limited to after dark running in the yard.

Now children can feed the heifers by flicking a switch. Machinery has been developed to the point that many jobs have been made much easier Chickens are housed in large houses and automatically fed and watered. Baseball and soccer teams have replaced some of the strenuous work on the farm School activities also consume a lot of time compared to simply studying lessons. Maybe the children are better rounded than in years past.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to lgood.eph@lnpnews.com

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

QUESTION — Carolyn Tyndall writes that her mom, who 87-years-old, fears she is losing her memory because she can't remember day-to-day things. She does remember the words to some songs she heard her mother sing. She hasn't heard the songs in more than 80 years, but it would mean a lot to her if someone could help her with the missing words or titles to the following:

"...her grave I watered with my tears, that's where these flowers grew. And don't forget to tell her, sir. These floweres were sent by me."

Title is needed for the poem:

"Hello, Central. Give me heaven, for my mama's surely there. You will find her with the angels on the golden stair.

"She'll be glad it's me who's calling. Call her. Won't you please. For I surely want to tell her I'm so lonely here.

"When the girl received this message coming o'er the telephone, how her heart leaped in a moment and the wire seemed to moan.

"I will answer just to please her, yes dear heart I'll soon come home. Kiss me Mamma, kiss your darling. Kiss me o'er the telephone."

QUESTION — R.E. Wilhelm writes that last summer she visited Lancaster County. At a produce stand, Wilhelm saw a young Amish girl wearing an apron, the front was one piece probably cut on the bias because it fit like a dress. The wide back straps were criss-crossed. Wilhelm would like a pattern sent to her at 2507 Limestone Rd., Wilmington, DE 19808.

QUESTION — Karen Mull, Elizabethtown, would like to know where to purchase an agitator for an electric butter churn manufactured by Alabama Manufacturing Co. The agitator is plastic. The motor sets on top of a barrel shaped 3-gallon jar. The agitator fits on the lid inside the jar. The company must have gone out of business because letters addressed to the address on the motor are returned. Anyone know where to find an agitator?

ANSWER — Ann wanted to know where to find gaskets for 3- and 6-quart Mirro Pressure Cooker and for the pressure cooker that requires a pressure control with three holes in it for 5-10-15 pounds. The company told her that it no longer makes the gaskets. Thanks to Peggy for writing that Miller's Hardware, P.O. Box 815, Valley View, PA 17983, has a stock of gaskets. You need the model number from the cooker, which can usually be found on the handle of the lid or the bottom of the cooker. Phone number for the store is (570) 682-3960.

Another reader writes that she bought gaskets a few months ago from Glen Rock Hardware, 200 Rock Rd., Glen Rock, NJ 07452. Phone (201) 444-1654.

An Ephrata reader writes that the gaskets (serial number needed) are available from Sprecher's Hardware, 24 E. Main St., Ephrata. Phone (717) 738-1106.

Joyce Stuff, Mercersburg, writes replacement parts are available from Cook's Corner Factory Outlet, P.O. Box 220, Manitowoc, WI 54220. Phone 1-800-236-CHEF for nice catalog.

ANSWER — Samuel Beiler, Jersey Shore, needed the address for Flavorseal Cookware or a place where it can be repaired. Thanks to Margaret Kaltreider, Glenville, writes that the company went out of business, but she had some Flavorseal handles replaced by the following company: New Era Inc., P.O. ANSWER — Brenda Fouts, Auburn, N.Y., wanted to know if string beans with mature, seedy pods can be used in lieu of navy beans and how should they be dried to preserved? Thanks to Margaret Kaltreider, Glenville, for writing that she lets the beans on the stalk until they are almost completely dried, then hull and place the beans on a flat surface to dry. Beans should be a single layer, not overlapping. When the beans are completely dried, put into a tight container. Margaret said that she often uses these as seeds the following year. She sees no reason why they could not be used in place of navy beans.

ANSWER — A subscriber wanted to know if anyone has about 25 pounds of hard white winter wheat to sell for seed or where it could be purchased on the East Coast. Thanks to a reader for writing that hard winter wheat (red or white wheat berries) can be purchased at Echo Hill, Fleetwood. Call (610) 944-7358.

ANSWER — Spencer Stamy, Newville, wanted used milking equipment. Bertram Leiby, R.1, Box 1252, Tamaqua, PA 18252, writes that he has for sale a 1½ glass pipeline for around the stable of 40 cows, a vacuum pump, milker, and milk tank.

Marie Moyer, Dublin, writes the following deal with second hand milking equipment: Noble Road Milking Equipment, 1523 Kirkwood Pike, Kirkwood, PA 17536. And, E. Lee Milking Equipment, Inc., 3910 E. Newport Rd., Gordonville, PA 17529.

ANSWER — For Bonnie Shirk and others who want "got milk" shirts, phone 1-888-GOT MILK or the internet address is www.gotmilk.com

ANSWER — Wade Mohn wanted an overdrive unit. Robert Myers, York, writes that he has one for a Willys jeep taken out of a Willys station wagon. He has various parts for Willys wagons and trucks. Phone (717) 845-3975.

ANSWER — Bruce Wise, Middletown, wanted information and the value of a wooden airplane propeller: Sensenich, 84-inches long, one end damaged. Serial #64583 H.P. 185, 3-inch hole RPM 2550. Kathleen Field, Bloomsburg, suggests he contact Sensenich Propeller Service, Inc. at Lancaster Airport. Phone 1-800-462-3412. The propeller may be of more value to a collector.

Covered By Insurance?

Many people with diabetes believed they were going to receive insurance coverage for supplies and education needed to help them control their diabetes, only to find out their insurance company does not cover it or has no plans to cover it.

There can be many reasons why your insurance company is not paying. As of Feb. 13, 1999, insurance companies in Pennsylvania, which does not include Medicare, are expected to pay for diabetes supplies and education, if they deem it medically necessary. This is the catch. If your insurance company does not feel that syringes, glucose monitors, lancets, blood testing strips, and visits with a diabetes care team are necessary, they have the option to deny your request or claim.

While many insurance companies are reimbursing for these supplies and services, some are not. However, all companies will be required to implement the new law sometime this year when they renew their contracts with the state, which can happen anytime during this year. So, keep trying!

An exception to this law are those people who purchase a bare-bones insurance policy, because their employer doesn't offer a more comprehensive plan or they can't afford a more comprehensive one. Another group that is affected are those receiving Medicare. Since Medicare is a federal program, it is not required to abide by state law.

Health care professionals, including physicians, registered dietitians, registered nurses, registered pharmacists, and certified diabetes educators, understand the importance of coverage for these services to help reduce the many complications of diabetes. Working with a team of health care professionals to learn about your eating, medication, and exercise plan is extremely important in taking control of your diabetes and limiting your risk of developing long-term complications.

So, while this law is a big step towards covering the necessary diabetes supplies and education, it will take some time to work out all the details. Legislation will be introduced to work with insurance companies to determine what is deemed medically necessary. The Insurance Department of Pennsylvania Department of Health has developed a brochure with steps you need to take if you are having a coverage or reimbursement problem with a managed care health insurance plan. For the free brochure, call toll free at 1-888-466-2787 or 1-887-881-6388 or visit their web page at <www.health.state.pa.us>.

Century of Farming

a pictorial history of farming from 1900 to 1999 as presented by readers of Lancaster Farming

Everett R. Newswanger, Editor

Lancaster Farming Publisher

In just a few days, Century of Farming, the book that recalls family involvement and the historic significance of agriculture's heritage will be ready to ship. This treasure chest of memories includes 120 pages of old photographs from the family albums of readers of Lancaster Farming. In addition, Editor Newswanger has written a preface that takes you from the "Golden Age" of agriculture as the 20th century began, through the Depression and on to the tremendous contrast of biotechnology.

The pre-publication sales have been numerous, and only a very limited number of additional copies have been ordered, making this volume truly a limited edition hard cover book.

To be sure that you get your copy, use this order form and send it to Lancaster Farming today. Orders will be taken on a first-come basis, and if all the copies are sold when your order arrives, your check or credit card order will be returned to you.

Agricultural Preservation Board Approves Farmland

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On behalf of Gov. Tom Ridge, Agriculture Secretary Samuel E. Hayes Jr., announced that the Agricultural Land Preservation Board has approved easement purchases for 14 additional farms across the commonwealth.

"The enrollment of these farms demonstrates Governor Ridge's dedication to the preservation of Pennsylvania's strong agricultural heritage and traditions," said Hayes, who chairs the board.

Created in 1989, the Pennsylvania Agricultural Land Preservation Board oversees the state Farmland Preservation Program. The program allows the state and countries to purchase development rights, referred to as easements, to guarantee that farms will remain as agricultural land.

The board also approved the proposed easement purchase program from Cambria County. With this action, Cambria County becomes the 48th county in Pennsylvania to participate in the Farmland Preservation Program.

Including the one county-owned easement accepted recently, the Farmland Preservation Program has protected 1,175 farms in 41 counties, encompassing 145,663 acres.

Following is a list of the 14 properties, including owner, municipality, acreage and purchase cost:

Berks County

• Harold S. and Eleanor S. Burgert, Maidencreek Township, 118 acres, $236,000.

• David R. and Gail D. Kessler Farm, Oley Township, 24 acres, $47,000.

• Roy H. and Teresa Rohrbach, Longswamp Township, 151 acres, $301,600.

Chester County

• Robert P. Guiney, Jr., Highland Township, 106 acres, $380,311.

ROTO-MIX IV FEED MIXERS

With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration.

The ROTO-MIX end-to-end... side-to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. Introducing New Larger Model Spreader

New Knight 4000 Gallon/ 800 Bushel V Spreader, 23/1x26.1 - Now Available From Binkley & Hurst Bros., Inc.

Binkley & Hurst Has A Heavy Duty KNIGHT For You!

One day in 1949, a friend told Stan Knight, "I wish someone would make a spreader that would not break down with frozen manure." That challenge to the founder of Knight Manufacturing led to the Knight heavy duty manure spreaders that were soon on the market. The common focus of Knight spreaders to this day is that they are simple and rugged and designed to give many years of service.

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Has One In Stock For You!

ProTwin Features at a Box Spreader Price

Knight Hammer Design Impeller Shreds Manure For Even Distribution of Nutrients for Easier Incorporation Into Your Soil.

Deckler Named Wil-Rich Sales, Marketing Manager

WAHPETON, N.D. — Wil-Rich, a division of TIC United Corporation, has named Charlie Deckler sales and marketing manager.

Deckler's responsibilities include overseeing all aspects of sales and marketing for the company. He is located at the company headquarters and manufacturing plant in Wahpeton, N.D.

Deckler has more than 20 years experience working with agricultural manufacturers and dealers. Prior to joining Wil-Rich, Deckler was with Thurston Manufacturing, Thurston, Neb.

Wil-Rich manufactures and markets a full line of cultivation and tillage equipment, potato harvesters, sugar beet harvesters, sprayers, and other ag equipment. The equipment is sold through dealers throughout the United States.

Barenbrug Recommends Reading Grass Seed Labels

OGDENSBURG, N J — Before purchasing grass seed, the astute homeowner should take a few moments to read and analyze the labels on various grass seed bags. This brief study will ensure the purchase of the correct seed for the homeowner's lawn's needs

The varieties of grass most commonly used in home lawns in the cool season growing areas (from Maine to Maryland) include Kentucky bluegrass, perennial ryegrass, fine fescues, and turf type tall fescues. All of these species will persist from year to year

Annual ryegrass is also a species commonly found in grass seed mixtures. This species grows quickly but only performs for one year. Although perennial ryegrass costs much more, the homeowner will receive a better value by using a perennial species. Thus, attention should be paid to the label to determine if a species is an annual or perennial

The label will indicate the percentage of each variety of grass contained in the mixture or blend. The homeowner should realize that there are many species within each variety of grass seed. The label should also indicate the amount of weed seeds, which should be below 1 percent and the amount of inert matter, which should be below 2 percent.

Homeowners should look for a grass seed that is labeled a "mixture" (containing different species), which is best for home lawns. The "mixtures" contain different varieties and different species. Thus, if severe weather conditions occur, disease appears, or infestation of a pest happens, the homeowner's lawn may be affected, but the homeowner will not lose the entire lawn. Grass seed that is labeled a "blend" means that all the seed in the bag is from the same species

Improved grass seed varieties are the choice for the discerning as well as the cost-conscious and environmentally-conscious homeowners. With improved varieties, the homeowner's lawn will have a richer color, reducing the use of fertilizer; have better insect and disease resistance, reducing pesticide usage; will be more Winter hardy, requiring less reseeding each year; and be more drought tolerant.

The improved varieties will also produce a denser growth, which will limit weeds and consequently, reduce the use of herbicides. While the initial purchase of an improved grass seed may be more costly, the results save time, effort, and the cost of additional chemicals/fertilizers. Plant breeding programs continually improve the varieties.

Mycogen Seeds Web Site Reflects Commitment

EAGAN, Minn. — Mycogen Seeds is helping farmers gain more information — on the Internet.

The newly designed Mycogen Web site allows growers to tap into crop production calculators, local agronomic advice, as well as product positioning data and yield comparisons, said Randy Hagen, manager of sales information, Mycogen Seeds.

"'Mycogen.com' is a one-stop ag information site," Hagen said. "In addition to posting company and product information, we've added useful, interactive tools that help farmers make good business decisions."

For instance, the Web site's unique online calculators can help predict cash flow per acre, corn shrinkage for mechanical drying and ECB pressures, as well as provide useful silage production information and more.

In a special section called "Problem Alert," growers can learn about pests, diseases, and other issues that may cause yield losses within a specific geography. This section also offers detailed advice on how to control these problems.

Farmers also may browse through the library of "Field Talk" articles for up-to-date research and agronomic information.

"Agriculture is experiencing some dramatic changes," Hagen said. "With this Web site, we want to deliver information to growers that is meaningful and useful to their individual operations, and help them make more efficient use of their time.

"We encourage our sales force, our customers and others in the seed industry to visit the site and see our new look, as well as the abundance of information we've make available," he said.

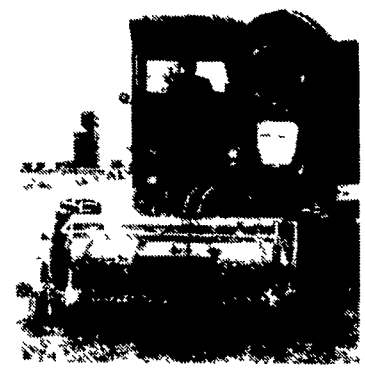
Large-Capacity Forage Additive Applicator Has In-Cab Rate Control

OWATONNA, Minn. — For spring 2000, Gandy Company is introducing a 2.3-cubic-foot capacity translucent polyethylene forage applicator approximately 100 pounds with positive displacement metering and electric motor drive with in-cab rate control

The hopper provides large capacity to cover more acres per fill, and the in-cab control allows rate adjustment to compensate for changes in flow of hay or silage. The underfed metering system eliminates dribble when not operating and is available in 2-, 3-, or 4-outlet configurations. The metering system also features easy clean-out ports behind each spout.

New options for spring 2000 also include a universal mount designed to fit many "V" hitches of large round balers and a 250 cfm blower package to assist flow to take up chambers.

Gandy also offers the 2.3-cubic-foot capacity poly hopper with cam gauge metering as well as the well-known steel hoppers with cam gauge metering. Corresponding 250 cfm blower packages and the "V" hitch mounting are also available options for these models.



Gandy Company is introducing a 2.3-cubic-foot capacity translucent polyethylene forage applicator approximately 100 pounds with positive displacement metering and electric motor drive with in-cab rate control.

Greater Omaha Packing Company To Produce Certified Hereford Beef

KANSAS CITY, Mo — The American Hereford Association (AHA) announced it has licensed Greater Omaha Packing Company of Omaha, Neb, to produce Certified Hereford Beef® (CHB) for program retailers, distributors, and exporters

The official announcement came Nov. 1 during the AHA annual meeting in Kansas City, Mo, where AHA and Greater Omaha officials unveiled the first box of CHB packed by Greater Omaha.

"We're very excited about the capabilities Greater Omaha brings to the Certified Hereford Beef program," Rob Ames, AHAs head of product marketing, said "Having a packer of their size and stature is a real credit to the marketability of the CHB brand."

Certified Hereford Beef was created in 1994 by the AHA to market the superior eating characteristics of Select and Choice Hereford and Hereford-English crossbred cattle Originally produced by Alpine Meats of Sacramento, Calif, CHB has been exclusively sold by Red Oak Farms, a Red Oak, Iowa, based company for the last four years. In 1999 17 million pounds of CHB will be distributed throughout the United States and to Japanese and Korean Export Markets.

"The Certified Hereford Beef brand is a great complement to our product mix," Roy Wiggs. Greater Omaha's vice president of sales, said "It gives us a partnering opportunity with retailers and distributors, as well as a premium quality line with which to attract new customers."

Greater Omaha, long known as a quality beef supplier, has seen countless Hereford, black baldy, and red baldy cattle pass through its facility since its founding in 1920 The family owned business has made a commitment to being on the front edge of meat processing The company opened a new carcass fabrication facility in 1996 and is constructing an adjacent slaughter facility with up-to-date food safety technology Greater Omaha has an annual beef business of 532 million, requiring 490,000 head of fed cattle

Hershey Named Select Sires A.I. Trainer Of The Year

PLAIN CITY, Ohio — Matt Hershey of Lancaster, Pa., was named the A.I. trainer of the year at Select Sires' International Sales Conference.

Hershey began his career with Select Sires just a few years ago as an A.I. technician in Lancaster County. He was promoted to A.I. trainer in 1997.

"Matt turned a new area into a full-time technician area for us within two years," said Wayne Dudley, Virginia - North Carolina/Select Sires' general manager. "His enthusiasm makes him very likeable to the farmers."

Besides leading A.I. training schools, Hershey works closely with local technicians, assists with relief breeding, and works with heat synchronization projects.

Equipment Manufacturers Institute Elects Christman

CHICAGO, Ill. – Richard Christman, senior vice president strategy and corporate development of Case Corporation, was elected the 1999-2000 chairman of the Equipment Manufacturers Institute (EMI) during its 106th Annual Convention Oct 9-11 at the Chateau Elan Winery and Resort in Braselton, Ga.

His one-year term as chairman officially began Nov. 1.

Christman has been an active member of EMI having been on the Institute's board of directors since 1994 during which time he served as EMI's vice chairman, second vice chairman, and vice chairman - agriculture.

In addition to providing leadership in the global business development arena and concentrating on growth opportunities around the world for Case, Christman is responsible for corporate development, strategic planning, and the management of global real estate assets.

He joined Case in 1975 and has held progressively more responsible leadership roles in many parts of the company, including a variety of sales, marketing, and planning positions in both the agricultural and construction equipment businesses. Christman has served as vice president of retail enterprises for the North American Agricultural Business, senior vice president of North American sales and marketing for agricultural and construction equipment, senior vice president of product management and support, and most recently as senior vice president, global development. Christman began his career with Ford Motor Company, where he spent three years as a design engineer.

He earned his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from Rose Hulman Institute of Technology and his master's of business administration degree in marketing/finance from the University of Michigan.

Nov. 1 also marks the transition date for the scheduled change of other EMI officers and directors. Joining Christman as newly elected EMI officers are Robert Vermeer, chairman and CEO, Vermeer Mfg. Company, Pella, Iowa as vice chairman and Dennis Eagen, president and CEO, Volvo Construction Equipment North America, Inc., Asheville, N.C., as second vice chairman.

Appointed to serve a second term as vice chairman – agriculture was Gary MacDonald, executive vice president, MacDon Industries Ltd., Winnipeg, MB, Canada. David Woods, chief operating officer, Charles Machine Works, Inc. Perry, Okla. was appointed to serve a one-year term as vice chairman – construction.

Robert Alonzo, vice president sales and marketing, Steel Parts Corporation, Tipton, Ind., was elected as the new EMI Supplier Council president and will be the Supplier Council representative to the EMI board of directors.

Agriculture Education Loan Forgiveness Applications Available

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co) — Graduates working full-time on a family farm or other agriculture related business may apply for Pennsylvania's Agriculture Education Loan Forgiveness Program, according to Rep. Sheila Miller (R-129).

"This is a valuable program that has helped countless Pennsylvania students repay their loans while carrying on the commonwealth's great traditions in the agriculture industry," Miller said

The program, established by the General Assembly in 1992, is designed to encourage students to pursue careers in agriculture It repays up to $2,000 annually of Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) guaranteed student loans. Borrowers may receive a lifetime maximum of $10,000 of loan forgiveness

To qualify for the program, graduates must:

- Have a degree related to agriculture or veterinary medicine from a Pennsylvania school or college
- Have their first year of full-time employment in the field on or after July 1, 1991
- Remain in Pennsylvania after graduation and be employed full-time in the operation of a family farm, family farm corporation, or veterinary practice

Additionally, family farms and farm corporations must be real property or a corporation owned by immediate family members The farm or corporation must produce agriculture products for commercial purposes and devote at least 75 percent of its assets to the agriculture business

Veterinarians must be certified with the U S Department of Agriculture to sign health certificates required for the interstate commerce of agriculture animals and animal products They must also be able to certify regulatory testing for contagious diseases.

Applications for the loan forgiveness program are available from PHEAA by calling (717) 720-3600 or at either of Miller's district offices, 2209 Penn Avenue, West Lawn, (610) 670-0139 or Rt. 419 and Rehrersburg Road, Rehrersburg, (717) 933-4686.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21ST CENTURY?

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency; this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements. . increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

What's against soft paint?
In metal roofing and siding some manufacturers use soft pliable paint to prevent cracks. The disadvantage with softer paint is that it scratches so easy Handling during erection, flying debris during storms, children playing against it, etc can easily scratch softer paint Scratches on softer paints tend to rust prematurely Everlast heat forms to prevent this Ask our competition if they heat form. It's important.

Attention
Dairy, Swine & Poultry Producers!
New Products Now Available...
With the addition of our new soybean processing facility, we now offer these products to meet your nutritional needs. Manufacturing these products ourselves allows us to utilize locally grown soybeans and support our local agricultural community!

GOLDEN PRO 46 XP
This natural, mechanically extruded and expelled soybean product is experiencing great acceptance with local dairymen. A course golden colored meal with a 6% fat content, Golden Pro 46 XP is extremely palatable. Golden Pro 46 XP is a natural way to bring the value of high by-pass protein into diets that require a lower fat level.

GOLDEN MEAL 40
An 18 percent fat content along with a 40 percent crude protein makes this mechanically extruded meal product a valuable component in a variety of rations. Full fat content gives you a high level of digestible energy, while high temperature extruding ruptures the oil cells for better nutritional absorbtions.

CRUDE SOYBEAN OIL
A product of Keystone's expelling process, this oil can be used in a wide variety of on farm applications. A natural alternative to animal fats, this oil provides needed energy in various rations.

To make these products available, and to help you utilize your home raised soybeans Keystone Mills announces its
Soybean Exchange Program
As manufacturers and distributers of Golden Pro 46 XP and Golden Meal 40, we are anxious for you to try our products. We are offering a soybean exchange program featuring these quality nutritional products.
